Ike And GOP Solons To Map '59 Program

Slate Meet Next Week On Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders will meet with President Eisenhower early next month to map next year's legislative program under a White House injunction to hold down spending.

The President set what appeared to be the administration's guidelines for the incoming Congress at a meeting Wednesday with Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, the House GOP leader.

"The general policy will be to cut down wherever possible," Martin reported afterwards.

Later, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told a news conference the new, heavily democratic Congress will be "prudent and careful of the taxpayers' dollar both at home and abroad."

"In some areas I think there will be an excess of appropriations above what the President asks," Johnson said. "But in a good many areas the appropriations will be less."

NEXT JULY

Martin made clear that administration objectives for the two years of the 86th Congress will be to avoid increasing the budget deficit—estimated at more than 12 billion dollars for this fiscal year—and to hold the line on the government's indebtedness.

The White House conference between Eisenhower and GOP congressional leaders is due around Dec. 10. It will deal chiefly with budget problems for the fiscal year starting next July.

Johnson, who met with Eisenhower Tuesday night, said the President has invited Democratic leaders to go over the legislative program with him. No date has been set for this meeting.

For the next two years, Eisenhower must deal with enlarged Democratic majorities in both House and Senate.

These Democratic gains are expected to be reflected in demands for new social, defense and farm legislation requiring more spending.

NEW YORK (AP) — Proposed merger of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. was banned today by U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld.

The proposed merger would have been the biggest in business history.

In an 88-page opinion, Judge Weinfeld concluded "there is reasonable probability that the merger of Bethlehem and Youngstown would be in violation of Section 7 of the Clayton Act, substantially lessen competition, and tend to create a monopoly in the iron and steel industry."

The corporations had sought through long and involved court proceeding for a merger which would have resulted in a company having assets totaling $2,710,000,000.

In his decision Judge Weinfeld said:

STEEL PRODUCTS

"The proposed merger would eliminate the present substantial competition between Bethlehem and Youngstown in substantial relevant markets.

"It would eliminate substantial potential competition between them. It would eliminate a substantial independent alternative source of supply for all steel consumers. It would eliminate Youngstown as a vital source of supply for independent fabricators who are in competition with Bethlehem in the sale of certain fabricated steel products.

Judge Weinfeld said the merger "offers an incipient threat of setting into motion a chain reaction of further mergers by the other but less powerful companies in the steel industry."

NLRB Blames Teamsters For Stalling Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Boyd Leedom of the National Labor Relations Board said today it was Teamsters Union stalling that delayed NLRB handling of the Coffey Transfer Co. case until the firm went out of business.

In the process of dealing with the case, the NLRB was twice enjoined by two separate courts, Leedom told investigating senators.

"The union was taking advantage of all the rules of due process," he said. "It was to their advantage to take as much time as possible."

Leedom was called by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee because of testimony from Tom Coffey of Lincoln, Neb., former operator of a truck line in that state.

Coffey told the senators that the Teamsters demanded a contract with his line in 1955 and, through a boycott, put him out of business before he could get an NLRB finding months later that his employes didn't want to be represented by the Teamsters.

Coffey said he petitioned in September 1955 for an NLRB election. One was held among seven employes the following January, but it was not until April 1 that the result was announced by the NLRB.

His story brought snorts of indignation from some of the committee members. Sen. Sam. J. Ervin (D-NC) said the case should have been handled in 30 minutes, and that Coffey's truck line "starved to death while justice moved on leaden feet."

Leedom's report of the injunctions brought criticism from the senators of actions by the courts in labor disputes.

"There is no excuse for orders of that kind being issued by any court," Ervin, a former North Carolina Supreme Court justice, said of an injunction by the federal court in Nebraska.

On a petition by the Teamsters, the court enjoined the NLRB from counting the ballots in the elec-

Forced To Flee N. Orleans Fire

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Scores of persons temporarily fled their apartments at dawn today when fire broke out in the French Market Ice House and spread ammonia fumes over a wide area of the Old French Quarter.

Firemen speculated that the blaze might have been caused by an explosion that quickly poured large clouds of smoke from the engine room of the plant in the French Market area.

The blaze was brought under control shortly before 8 a.m. and Fire Chief Howard L. Dey estimated the damage to buildings and contents at approximately $25,000.

U.S. OR RUSSIA!

Blockade Talk Scares Berliners

BERLIN (UPI) — Russia and the East German Communists slowly and steadily built up pressure against West Berlin today, worrying the West Berliners and bringing fears the Americans might leave.

The world "blockade" produces great fear in this city 110 miles deep in Communist territory, but the greater fear is that the United States might abandon the city.

"We can go through another blockade, but the Americans must not leave," one woman said. "Then we will be swallowed up by the Russians. Then we will all have to flee."

To the average West Berliner the issue comes down to that—Americans or Russians.

THEY PROMISE

There is talk about four-power agreements and their abrogation, the meaning of Potsdam, the rights of occupation, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speech on Berlin.

All this is summed up by frightened but determined people in two questions: What are the Russians going to do? Will the Americans stand by the city as they promise?

There is no doubt here the Russians are going to do something. There is little doubt of this in

Speed-Loving Tom Pittman Wreck Victim

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Like teenagers' idol James Dean, Tom Pittman was considered one of Hollywood's most promising young actors.

Like Dean, he was moody, a habitue of coffee houses. He never owned a suit—"I never go any place where you have to wear suits."

Like Dean, he had one love—speed. Both owned 175-m.p.h. Porsche Spyder sports cars.

Dean died in his when it crashed on a highway near San Luis Obispo, Calif., three years ago.

Pittman's career was just beginning to roll. Friends say he earned at least $60,000 this year in radio, television and film roles. He appeared in "The Proud Rebel" with Alan Ladd and on TV's "Wagon Train," "Cimarron" and "Zane Grey Theater."

The 25-year-old actor wasn't exactly handsome. But his boyish charm and acting ability—in the Tony Perkins-Dean-Marlon Brando tradition — earned him good parts. Critics liked him.

Then last Halloween Pittman disappeared.

BROKEN RAILING

Pittman's father, TV-radio actor Frank Alten, filed a missing-persons report with the sheriff's office. Alten said his son, whose real name was Jerry Alten, liked to drive fast around mountain grades and might have gone off a road.

Jury Must Decide If Caril Shares Guilt Of Killer

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The murder case of Caril Ann Fugate, 15-year-old ex-sweetheart of killer Charles Starkweather, went to a jury at 10 a.m. (CST) today.

The jury's task: to decide whether Caril shares the guilt which already has brought Starkweather a death penalty.

The girl is charged on two counts — one with first degree murder in the death of Bennet, Neb., schoolboy Robert Jensen and second with murder in the perpetration of a robbery of Jensen.

Judge Harry Spencer told jurors they may find Caril guilty of either first or second degree murder or innocent on count one.

On count two the verdict must be either guilty of first degree or innocent.

GREAT CARE

Second degree murder carries a penalty of 10 years to life imprisonment.

First degree murder is punishable in Nebraska by life imprisonment or death in the electric chair. The jury specifies which penalty shall apply.

Judge Spencer told jurors that aiding or abetting would make Caril equally guilty with Starkweather under the law.

He advised jurors to use "great care and caution" in weighing the testimony of Starkweather, a principal state witness against his former sweetheart.

The judge pointed out that Caril was not on trial for failing to run away from her killer companion, for not giving an alarm, or for not trying to prevent the offenses.

Tavern Keeper Gets 20 Years

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—Circuit Judge Francis Zachary, in a surprise move, today sentenced tavern keeper Marvin (Red) Lord to 20 years in prison for the Sept. 20 slaying of Thomas Walton Johnson.

Lord, who operated a tavern in nearby Brooklyn, was charged with Johnson's murder, but a jury yesterday returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter.

The lesser offense carried a minimum sentence of one year, but Zachary imposed the maximum penalty on Lord.

20 Nations In U.N. Okay Soviet Plan

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States and 19 other sponsors of a Western resolution on outer space agreed today to accept two main provisions of a Soviet compromise measure aimed at establishing a permanent international space organization.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge immediately went into conference with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin to attempt to work out a joint Western-Soviet resolution that could gain unanimous support in the United Nations Main Political Committee.

Russia paved the way for compromise earlier this week by dropping its previous demand that the elimination of all foreign military bases be linked with the question of space control.

9 COUNTRIES

Zorin submitted instead a new resolution calling for creation of a permanent international committee for cooperation in the study of cosmic space for peaceful purposes. To set up the international group, the Russian measure called for appointment of an 11-nation preparatory committee comprising the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain, France, India, the United Arab Republic, Sweden, Argentina and three satellite countries — Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania.

The 20 countries sponsored an opposing resolution calling for a year's study of the U.N. role in outer space by a small special

BAKER SLAYING

Defense Hints Of New Suspects

By DANNY BINGHAM
Staff Writer

The theory that either of "at least two other persons" might have killed 80-year-old Isaac C. Baker here last May 15 remained the focal point as the hotly fought murder trial of Brodie Byron Davis entered its fourth day in Fourth District Court here this morning.

At the same time, one of the two court-appointed attorneys for the 34-year-old ex-convict declared that as far as counsel for the defense was concerned, it was "an all or nothing matter. The attorney said that Davis was "either guilty as charged or was innocent."

A jury verdict of "guilty as charged" would automatically result in the death penalty which Dist. Atty. Albin P. Lassiter has said he would insist upon. A verdict of not guilty would, of course, result in an acquittal.

An atmosphere of mystery continued to pervade the courtroom this morning as one of the defense attorneys kept pounding away at indirect references to a 10-year-old unsolved murder in which a man was found beaten to death with blows to the head. The man's body was found in a house in the immediate vicinity of Baker's dwelling "back of the levee" at the foot of Lazarre Avenue in West Monroe. It was understood that the victim of the decade-old murder also was trussed much in the manner that Baker's body was found when it was taken from slack flood waters of the Ouachita River about a mile below his home last May 20.

Lassiter, assisted by Asst. Dist. Atty. Gilbert Brown, has presented a carefully prepared and strategically presented case for the state in the call of the first score or so of the prosecution's 53 witnesses. At the same time, the defense has used its privilege of cross examination of state witnesses to lay the groundwork upon which the defense plea will be laid when defense witnesses are called. Defense attorneys said this morning they still did not know how many of these witnesses there would be.

Court observers were impressed

Sudan's Strong Man To Stress Internal Strength

CAIRO (AP) — Sudan's new strong man said today his main interest now is in internal reorganization, and foreign policy decisions will have to wait. He hinted he will seek better relations with the United Arab Republic.

Gen. Ibrahim Abboud made his comment in a brief telephone interview from Khartoum, Sudan's capital, with The Associated Press in Cairo.

Asked about the possibility of reaching an agreement with the U.A.R. on the division of Nile waters, long an issue between the

Plastic Surgery Patient Unhappy

PARIS (AP) — A Paris Civil Court ruled today that a 56-year-old woman shouldn't demand the impossible from a plastic surgeon, and should be happy with any improvements he can make.

The suit was brought by Gita Leibman de Kassel, an American who lives in Mexico. She asked 50 million francs—$119,000—damages from France's famed plastic surgeon, Dr. Jean Voisin.

PRAISE SKILL

Court proceedings disclosed she came to Voisin with a request that he remove certain facial wrinkles, smooth pouches beneath her eyes, make her look more youthful and give her bosom a youthful line.

All but the last was successful, she admitted in her complaint, but that was a disaster. She claimed the surgery left her with scars which show when she wears low-cut evening dresses. She also claimed the scars adversely affected certain marriage plans, and contended the doctor had not warned her that lifting the bosom would cause some scars.

The court sided with Voisin, threw out the suit, and said: "At a certain age one should not demand the impossible. One should, on the contrary, praise the skill of the surgeon who did obtain certain results."

Top Security Leaders, Ike Hold Meeting

Forcing Allies Out Of City Is Soviet Aim

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower met with the National Security Council today as the Russians stepped up their war of nerves to force the West out of Berlin.

It was considered virtually certain that the Berlin crisis—and possible counter-moves by the Allies—was the principal subject discussed at the top-secret, 50-minute meeting.

U.S. officials emphasized, meanwhile, this country's firm determination to resist with stern measures any Communist efforts to force the Western Big Three—Britain, France and the United States — to abandon their sector of the old German capital.

The crisis stems from Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Nov. 10 announcement that Moscow will hand over control of the Soviet sector to the East German Communists.

Andrei Smirnov, Soviet ambassador to Berlin, told West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in outlining the plan that it was aimed at "liquidating the occupation status of Berlin."

MAJOR PROBLEM

Smirnov's statement was announced by the Russians today. It came as no surprise to Allied authorities who have been convinced for some time that Moscow probably will go through with the plan. They have promised immediate and strong counter-measures, but have refused to tip their hand by disclosing what they might be.

U.S. and other Allied officials on the spot, however, have been instructed to have no dealings with the East German Communists which could be interpreted as recognition of the puppet regime. This presumably would not rule out dealing with minor East German officials as long as it was clear that final responsibility

City Would Sell Bus System, But Nobody Wants It

Commissioner H. W. McSherry said today past efforts to sell or lease the money - losing City Bus Department failed.

"You can't give it away," McSherry said.

A check with city records yesterday showed the department continues to lose money at a rate of approximately $6,000 per month.

With that in mind, McSherry said it was virtually impossible to sell the system or lease the franchise.

"I've tried many times during the past two years to get the system off the city's hands," McSherry stated. "But it's impossible."

The department, which has lost money for years, showed a deficit of $71,900 during fiscal year 1958. City officials expect the same loss this fiscal year.

Despite a $12,000 savings in gasoline, McSherry said the department would lose money "simply because we don't have enough people riding our buses."

"In larger cities, for instance," McSherry explained, "there is a greater traffic problem, so people naturally turn to the buses."

"But even at that, the big towns are having their problems with the municipal transportation systems," he said.

The municipal systems in Shreveport and Baton Rouge are privately owned. In New Orleans, the city owns the system.

McSherry said the deficit in fiscal year 1958 would have been cut by $28,822.64 had it not been for two "necessary steps."

the Western capitals. In Washington the only question is how far will Russia go toward the brink of war.

The U.S. top level Security Council was meeting today in Washington to study the situation. The United States, Britain and France were holding consultations in the various Western capitals.

They are bound by a NATO resolution of October, 1954, to fight a war if necessary to hold Berlin. Their major worry is that Russian harassment of the city could touch off a war accidentally.

West Berliners feel the pressure against the city is more than a Soviet propaganda campaign and more than a war of nerves. Russia needs West Berlin to further the cause of Communism. The West needs the city of block Soviet aims.

As long as West Berlin exists, the East Germans will not give up hope that someday they might be freed or united with the West. But in the long run the Russians cannot accept this situation, any more than they could accept a West Moscow.

Abboud declined to amplify this. In the declaration he referred to, Abboud promised to work for better relations with the U.A.R. and the elimination of dissension.

'We need two or three days to lay down the broad lines of our policy," Abboud said. "Our main interest is in internal reorganization. Later, we will study Sudan's foreign policy.

"You must understand that now we have military rule, while before Sudan was governed by civilians."

The 58-year-old general declined to answer any more questions.

"I can't talk for a long time because I'm presiding over a Cabinet meeting, and we have much to do," he said.

The interview was made possible by the restoration of telephone communications between Cairo and Khartoum for the first time since the coup on Monday. Reports reaching Cairo said the situation in Khartoum is relaxed, and the population is going about its business as usual.

A major problem involves whether the Russians intend to give the East Germans sufficient authority to control Allied air and ground traffic through the 100-mile corridor linking the isolated Western zone of Berlin with free Germany.

Some U.S. officials believed Russia will apply pressure step by step. They said the big question is just how far the Russians will move toward the brink of war.

Defense Hints

by the frequency with which the defense, on cross examination, has insistently injected the name of one man other than Davis into the case.

ESTABLISH WEAPON

In earlier action, the state set about establishing identity of the "heavy, blunt instrument" used in crushing the retired farmer's skull Lassiter succeeded in establishing through the testimony of Baker's daughter, Mrs. Rachel Pool, that her father owned, and used frequently, a heavy, five - cell flashlight which has been missing since the night of Baker's disappearance.

Recalled to the stand Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Pool identified a pocket knife as one which her father carried. Lassiter then determined that fact that the knife was found in Davis' possession when he was arrested while a search was being conducted for Baker. At the time of Davis' arrest, his fate had not been determined.

One of the factors leading to the arrest of Davis was finding of Baker's wrist watch in a Monroe pawn shop. It had been "hocked" by a person giving the name of Brodie B. Davis, testimony showed.

A witness yesterday afternoon said that he saw Davis walking along the top of the levee toward West Monroe and from the general location where Baker's boat was found late on the night that Baker was last seen alive.

Indications today were that the trial would continue through this week, with a Saturday session a probability. The 12-man jury has been locked up at night since the start of the case. Nine were selected Monday and the other three by mid - afternoon Tuesday.

tion. The petition, questioning the constitutionality of a section of the Taft-Hartley labor law, was later withdrawn by the Teamsters.

Ervin commented that this was a familiar tactic by persons who have no merit in a case they bring. He maintained that judges should never issue injunctions for more than three days without a hearing on probable cause.

After withdrawing the action in Nebraska, the Teamsters got another but less sweeping injunction from a federal court here. This further delayed NLRB action.

In reply to a question by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), Leedom said the NLRB is finding a tendency by U. S. district courts to move into areas where the board feels it has exclusive jurisdiction. He referred specifically to what he called interference in the board's handling of election disputes.

He added that this was rather widespread and not limited to any particular areas.

When Leedom came before the senators, Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Neb) told him the committee wanted to nail down whether the board or federal law was responsibile for the delays "so that things like that will never, never happen again."

Leedom called the case "typical of what we have to contend with" when one side wants to stall.

And the union did, he continued, reporting the two separate injunctions. A Nebraska federal court, he said, issued one of them "enjoining us from doing anything. We couldn't count the votes."

The number of votes—the fact that there were only seven—had nothing to do with the matter, Leedom emphasized.

Judge Weinfeld said the merger "offers an incipient threat of setting into motion a chain reaction of further mergers by the other but less powerful companies in the steel industry."

"If there is logic to the defendants' contention that their joinder is justified to enable them, in their own language, to offer 'challenging competition to United States Steel,'" he said, "which exercises dominant influence over competitive conditions in the steel industry,' then the remaining large producers in the 'big 12' could with equal logic urge that they, too, be permitted to join forces and to concentrate their economic resources in order to give more effective competition to the enhanced 'big 2'; and so we reach a point of more intense concentration in an industry already highly concentrated—indeed, we head in the direction of triopoly."

Nasser Makes Play To Win Sudan Regime

CAIRO, (AP) — President Nasser is making a strong bid to win the new Sudanese regime to his brand of Arab nationalism.

Although there were fears in Cairo that Gen. Abraham Abboud's coup was triggered by anti-Nasser elements, the U.A.R. was the first country to recognize the new regime. The Cairo propaganda machine is overflowing with praise for the Sudan revolution.

Things did not go the way Nasser planned in the Sudan, but he is willing to join them if he cannot lead them.

"Maybe pro-Western elements hostile to Nasser staged the coup in the Sudan," a prominent Egyptian observer conceded.

"But nobody has any power in the Sudan now except the army. Abboud and his officers won't be bound by any preconceived policy. They were determined their coup must succeed, and they cannot afford to follow a policy damaging their chances. We intend to convince them that their greatest hope of success lies in friendliness with U.A.R."

Nasser Wednesday exchanged warm greetings with Abboud.

The Cairo press is portraying the Abboud coup as an anti-imperialist maneuver designed to foil British-American plots against Sudan.

Abbout meanwhile pledged his government would accept all international obligations of the previous regime, and particularly membership in the United Nations and the Arab League.

British experts in London say Abboud's coup apparently was intended to forestall any concessions to Nasser, who has been pressing Sudan about Nile River water, border demarcation and other disputes.

Robbers Make Catching Error

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two men who robbed the Provident Loan Assn. of $500 here made one mistake.

Green Balks At Partisan Policy Assault

PARIS (AP) — Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI), chairman of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said today "I will not be a party to subjecting American foreign policy to partisan treatment."

"Politics must stop at the water's edge," the 91-year-old senator said in a speech at the American Club of Paris.

"This is not to say that I am ready to accept foreign policy decisions of the President hook, line and sinker," Green added. "It is separated two months later.

the duty of the President to conduct the day to day operations of our foreign policy. It is also the duty of Congress to subject the President's policies to discussion and debate, for the purpose of helping the nation to develop these policies which will best serve our national interest."

Green said the initiative in keeping partisanship out of foreign policy rests with President Eisenhower, "who must make a special effort to see that the Democratic majorities in the Congress are consulted in the formulation of that policy."

Cyprus Officials Refuse To Deliver Body Of Rebel

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Authorities today refused to deliver the body of EOKA leader Kyriacos Matsis to his parents.

It was decided to bury him in a prison compound in unhallowed ground. Matsis, leader of the Greek Cypriot underground in northern Cyprus, was killed by British troops Wednesday.

Matsis' parents protested the decision, saying burial in unhallowed ground is un-Christian.

There is no Federal excise tax on Baker's Hair Tonic, because it's a specific for dandruff. "A sure way out of a bad situation" caused by dandruff and itchy scalp is Baker's Hair Tonic. It will knock out dandruff in a hurry. Satisfaction, or money back. Adv.

Louisiana Needs Budget Reforms

The Louisiana Division of Administration has announced plans to run a thorough check on spending by the various agencies of the state government. This is indeed good news and is encouraging from the taxpayers point of view.

The announcement by Administration Commissioner James S. Reily comes at a time when the state is allegedly beseiged by fiscal troubles. The overall plan looks toward budgetary reforms.

Good government forces in Louisiana long have maintained that revenues enjoyed by the state are more than adequate to support its various programs. If any of these activities suffer economic pinch, the trouble may invariably be laid to inequitable utilization of the available funds.

It has been obvious to most Louisiana taxpayers for the past two or three years, that a little economy in the right places in state operation would eliminate any need for additional taxes, or the curtailment of any necessary activities for any of the various departments.

A case in point is the current education crisis in which the schools throughout the state have been faced with early closing.

When it became apparent that sufficient additional funds would not be forthcoming, other means, mostly within the limitations of the state's present fiscal structure, were quickly found.

Surpluses from the school lunch fund and the welfare program played the major role in solving that crisis.

A thorough investigation of the spending habits of all state agencies will undoubtedly point the way to considerable saving, not only in the matter of utilizing surpluses, but also in sensible budgetary policies.

Particularly encouraging is the indication that Reily intends making the state department of education one of the principal targets of his survey.

The $4.5 million school lunch fund surplus that was reclaimed by the Legislature indicates that this free-wheeling department, which handles more state funds than any other agency, could stand a thoroughgoing examination.

Reily's investigation of spending at all levels will have, as one of its announced purposes, "a better, more detailed budget for the next fiscal year."

It could accomplish much more than that. It could establish a practical pattern of wise budgetary practices that would spell fiscal sanity stretching a long way into the future.

Gov. Long Calls For Economy

With a special session of the Legislature under the bridge, Gov. Earl K. Long has sent up the call for more economy. His next call may be directed towards higher taxes.

Last week's session provided $14,700,000 in order to complete a full term for the state's schools during the current year. Long and his fiscal officer had agreed to ask for about $10,000,000, but educators let it be known this was not sufficient.

By avoiding any mention of the obvious solution—higher taxes—at a recent press conference, the governor simply said with no money to meet mounting state expenditures "it will be hell" next year.

It is ironic that Long, in his campaign speeches of 1956, constantly referred to his pledge that there would be no increase in taxation during his administration, if he were elected.

When he went into office, he was well aware of the inflationary spiral which was resulting in higher costs and pay scales in all businesses—including the running of state government, highways, welfare offices and schools. Many observers believe Long picked the worst possible year to promise no increase in taxes. It is certainly poor politics to campaign on a "no tax increase" platform then bend every effort to raise taxes at each session of the legislature.

As the squeeze tightens, the seamy side begins to show and rip out at the same time. Apparently, the governor had in mind raising money through special levies on business and industry when he promised "no higher taxes." So now, when oil and gas taxes don't come through—or are found to by unconstitutional—the state finds itself in a mounting financial crisis. And the only tax source is the general taxpaying public.

There may be a shortage of up to $60 million when the 1959 Fiscal Legislature looks for funds to foot current appropriations, according to some estimates. But says the governor, "We'll just cross that bridge when we come to it."

The Louisiana taxpayer can be sure he will be called upon to pay the toll in higher taxes when the time comes to cross the "bridge" Gov. Long referred to.

Rockefeller, Harriman Are The Same

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Unseeing, the people of this country have been witness to the infiltration of the Communist-Socialist revolution by capitalism. In New York two men who inherited countless millions were the big - party candidates for governor, Harriman and Rockefeller, and vice - versa. There is not the slightest difference between them politically and Rockefeller served the Roosevelt - Truman regime as heartily as Harriman did, though not in positions of such importance as Harriman's mission to Moscow.

Rockefeller's father, trying to assuage public hatred of the clan after the Ludlow massacre in Colorado, explained that the Rockefellers were the perfect flower on the stalk of the human race, a rose brought to splendor by the ruthless sacrifice of many little buds and suckers on the stem. There was a reaction of horror from the pulpit and of hatred from a press which then was aloof toward "predatory wealth." The present Rockefeller was not a party to that situation, but, like Harriman, Marshall Field and many other heirs of great fortunes, he seems to have felt some embarrassment, possibly guilt, in his association with the fortune and the reputation which his grandfather founded. Harriman's father was morally ambiguous and more a financier than a builder of railroads.

The Kennedys of Boston are new - rich, but enormously rich for all that. Though Joe, the father of the bunch, professed bitter hatred for Franklin Roosevelt, he and Jimmy were business associates and his two sons, Jack and Bobby, are machine politicins of the same party. And the three of them are turning the crank to nominate Jack for vice president, at least, in 1960 on the ticket of Walter Reuther, Dave Dubinsky and all the outright "subversives" of the party whose president said the evidence against Alger Hiss was a red herring.

The Kennedys certainly are capitalists and Catholics. Therefore the puzzle, in view of Reuther's written exhuberance about Sovict Russia and his present socialism, is solved only by an arbitrary and wistful conclusion that such rich, religious men intend to bend Reuther to their will. Up to now the way of such things has been that Reds, and radicals of paler hue, made use of the wealth of capitalists through taxation and control of their productive properties. Lines were clearly drawn in theory, but since 1933 political "integration" has been increasing.

But is Reuther, to name him as the dominant radical of the day, steering these rich men? Or have the rich invaded the radical area of politics, and become an army of occupation intending to impose something which might be called radical capitalism? Or Communist capitalism? That is a shook-up and contradictory term . . , but aren't they all? Aren't we?

Many of the richest retail merchants in the world are enthusiastic party Democrats. More than a scattering of them pay elaborate respect to the Widow Roosevelt on occasions plainly contrived to enhance her political influence. It is scoffingly said that she has no influence, but if she were unimportant she would not have been quoted prominently in opposition to Frank Hogan, the New York Democratic nominee for senator, nor on a doubting voice about Jack Kennedy, wigging him for insufficient ferocity gainst Joe McCarthy. Nor would Jack, belatedly, have boasted that he had held McCarthy to be grievously wrong and would have voted against him had he not been sick abed. The lady's mere misgiving bout Hogan was honored with a two - column head in the Herald Tribune, which professes to be a Republican newspaper. And, for that matter, it is about as Republican as most Republican papers. A political has - been or nonentity commands no such attention. Would your wife, who conceivably is Mrs. Roosevelt's moral equal, receive such deferential publication for mere expressions of doubt concerning eminent politicians?

Jock Whitney, another heir to enormous wealth and a nominal Republican, having taken control of the H-T, has not abated the editorialistic vein in the privileged "departments" — radio - TV, "books" and Hollywood. Mr. Whitney is not a blank - eyed, loose - lipped raveling of a great family. He is an aggressive, successful business man. He knows what he is doing and why.

Great foundations, founded by capitalists, have financed "projects" of "the other side" almost exclusively. The friendlyv Frank Costello got 18 months for contempt of the contemptible Kefauver committee, but a Communist who shows not only contempt for congress but hostility to the United States goes free by intercession of the supreme court. The protest expressed against such lenity in organs of "opinion" is feeble, mixed and, on the whole, submissive.

All this may promise inflation, dictatorship, dissolution and other shapeless horrors of a dark future But the rich seem to have no fear for their money, which is their principal stake in this world, for they are not notably moral or conscientious.

When Cyrus Eaton, with his millions, parleys amiably with Russians and sneers at the apprehensions of the FBI and the congressional committees, have he and his kind the confidence of cagey players with aces back-to-back?

Weekly Questions And Answers

BY RAY HENRY

From N. R. of Newark, N. J.: "What is the average age at which people are now retiring?" Labor Department and Social Security figures show that its 67.

From Mrs. S. G. S. of Schenectady, N. Y.: "I'm 68 and have been getting Social Security for the last three years. Now I've been offered a part-time job which will not interfere with my present Social Security payments. I've been told Social Security tax will be deducted from what I earn. Do I have to pay this tax even though I'm already getting payments?"

Yes. All persons covered by Social Security on a job must pay the tax, no matter what their age or whether they're drawing payments.

From J.M. of San Bernardino, Calif.: "I've been collecting Social Security disability payments since October 1957. Now I understand it's also possible for me to get additional payments because I have a wife and two children to support. Is this right?"

Yes. This results from a change just made in Social Security. You should apply for this additional money immediately. You were eligible for it as of Sept. 1, 1958, and can claim payments back to that date.

From Miss L.G.C. of Rock Hill, S.C.: "I'm 61 and have been paying into Social Security since 1937. If I should never become eligible for payments, could I name my niece as my beneficiary of the money?"

No. Monthly Social Security payments may only be paid to a surviving widow, widower, child or parent. It isn't possible to name a beneficiary. Your niece would be eligible for a lump sum death payment of up to $255 after your death if she paid your funeral expenses.

From W.S. of College Park, Md.: "Several months ago you outlined certain rules which apply to the earnings a person may have if he's getting Social Security. Suppose a person goes beyond the limits and doesn't tell the Social Security office. How can the office find out?"

The Social Security Administration has ways of cross checking a person's earning statements with his income tax reports and the reports an employer must file with the government.

From W.E.M. of Pittsburgh, Pa.: "I've just completed 23 years with the railroad. If I should die of a heart attack before I retire, what kind of payments will my wife receive from Railroad Retirement?"

Your wife will be eligible for a lump sum payment providing you leave no survivors who are eligible for monthly Railroad Retirement payments in the month you die. She also may be eligible for monthly payments when she reaches 60 if she hasn't remarried or she is under 60, has not remarried and is caring for your children who qualify for monthly payments.

From Mrs. H.L of Green Bay, Wis.: "I'm drawing Social Security as a widow. I need money very badly to pay medical expenses. Could I borrow on my Social Security to pay these expenses?"

No, but you may be able to get some help from your state public welfare agency.

Once Newspapermen Took Pride In Getting A 'Scoop'

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Times certainly have changed since the days when newspapermen took pride in getting a "scoop" and when their competitors recognized such enterprise and thought it was unsportsmanlike to cry "leak."

Nowadays when the Press Secretary of the President of the United States claims — as he did on the television last Sunday — the privilege of giving out news to whichever correspondents he wants to help with "background," this is sarcastically referred to as a "leak" — as something he shouldn't do.

Never in the recollection of this correspondent has the Chief Presidential Secretary dealing with news been regarded as a minor official, but as a principal — as much entitle dto give out news for the government as if he were the head of a department in the executive branch.

Nor is any President forbidden by any rule to give out information to selected individuals in the press except as he may impose a restraint on himself due to a reluctance to face the protesting cries of other newsmen.

President Theodore Roosevelt used to have a group of friendly newswriters around him all the time, and when it came to giving out "scoops," he usually favored the writers from newspapers whose editorial policies were in opposition to him. He used to say frankly that, if he couldn't "get a break" in the editorial pages of such newspapers, he at least had a right to get one in their news columns.

President Taft tried for a while to hold "background" conferences with a group of newspapermen selected for him by an unofficial press adviser, but the plan failed because the President himself, owing to his long service as a federal judge, just wasn't accustomed to dealing in impromptu tomed to dealing in impromptu fashion with the spot news of the day.

When President Wilson was first inaugurated, he held press conferences for all writers who were certified by the newly formed White House Correspondents Association. These press conferences didn't permit direct quotation and were abandoned shortly after World War I began. This was because Mr. Wilson objected to the presence of correspondents, writing for newspapers in Germany, who, he felt, merely acted as information gatherers for the German Embassy. Rather than make a public issue or international incident out of it, he stopped holding press conferences himself. They were carried on daily, however, by the President's Secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty. He gave out information as he pleased, and nobody accused him of not having the right to give "background" information to individual correspondents if he wished.

Last Sunday, when Presidential Press Secretary Hagerty was quizzed on a Columbia Broadcasting System television show about "leaks" and "background" information, the inference of one of his interrogators was that a presidential secretary doesn't have the right to give out "background" information or even "leak" stories to any reporter he chooses. But, oddly enough, this practice thrives on Capitol Hill, and it is not easy to trace the "leaks" or the "background" stories that come from individual senators or congressmen whose views are thus distributed anonymously on many controversial questions of the day. Nor do many correspondents at the Capitol feel that a catastrophe has happened if one of their number gets an occasional "scoop" because of friendliness with certain news sources.

There is, of course, always the "planted" story, which happens when the newspaperman himself hasn't the slightest hint ahead of time about the news which is given him. He is selected for the artificial "scoop" either because his paper is prominent or has a big circulation, or because he can be trusted to keep his mouth shut as to where and how he got the "exclusive" story. Thus it was to the interest of the last Democratic Administration to "leak" to a New York newspaper — which printed it in full — the actual transcript of the conversation at Wake Island in 1950 between President Truman and General MacArthur. The General had not known till he read it in the newspapers that a stenographer had been listening at a keyhole. This is an example of a "planted leak," but curiously enough very little furor was raised by the "right to know" organizations of those days, as it still was considered a good "scoop" for the newspaper that got it, unethical though it happened to be for the Administration that resorted to the trick.

The right of an administration even to put out a "planted" story, however, cannot be denied., though, if present tendencies continue, this sort of thing, too, may eventually be controlled by the "right to know" laws and regulations being currently espoused. Maybe in the days to come nobody will ever need to fear being "scooped" or feel again the pressure to get a "scoop."

Hiss, Unrepentent Perjurer, Is Now A TV Star

BY FULTON LEWIS

WASHINGTON—Mr. Alger Hiss, unrepentent perjurer, is now Alger Hiss, TV star. He was honored as the "distinguished guest expert," on a Providence, R.I., television show last week.

Mr. Hiss was not asked to speak on lying before Congressional committees or on prison life at Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary, although he is well-versed in both. Instead Mr. Hiss held forth as a "special guest on international affairs."

He appeared on the WJAR-TV program, "The World Around Us," part of which is being offered for college credit by Providence College. Appearing with him was a left-wing professor by the name of David Warren, and a moderator named Betty Adams who clearly showed that Foreign Policy was not her forte.

"The World Around Us" of Nov. 4, opened with orchestral fanfare, and the folsky comment of Miss Adams that she and her audience were going to "meet and talk with Alger Hiss." But before the audience had this rare treat Miss Adams gave a rundown on Mr. Hiss' "vital statistics."

Miss Adams told of Alger's "brilliant" school record, including his graduating Phi Beta Kappa (which she mispronounced) from Johns Hopkins University.

Miss Adams then continued with Alger's career, telling of his rise in the State Department, of acting as secretary general of the UN charter conference at San Francisco, and of being elected in 1946 as president of the Carnegie Endownment for International Peace. From that year she skipped to 1958, and mentioned that Mr. Hiss was now engaged in business in New York.

There was no mention of his association with Whittaker Chambers, of the House Un-American Activities Committee, or two perjury trials, and his conviction, or of his subsequent years in prison. To listen to Miss Adams, these were not "vital statistics."

Alger Hiss spoke in that smooth, carefully modulated voice that once fooled American liberals but failed to fool two dogged congressmen by the names of Richard Nixon and Karl Mundt. He was asked nothing of an embarassing nature, but his answers to the spoon-fed questions of Miss Adams are extremely interesting.

On the subject of a pet project, the man who acted as secretary general of the UN charter conference said he was "extremely pleased" with its work during the 13 years since he had helped set it up. And he thought it was fine that the ranks of the United Nations are being filled with so-called "neutralists" and pro-Communist nations. Said Hiss: "I think it is wholesome that we can no longer count on a sure majority."

Hiss is extremely unhappy that the Administration refuses to recognize Red China—or the "New China", as he calls it—because it is not a "very realistic view." And Mr. Hiss goes on to say that this was not the view they had taken "initially" in Washington—presumably when he was backseat driver for the State Department.

According to Hiss, Red China is not the aggressor in the Formosa Strait. "The terms aggressor and non-aggressor aren't very relevant" there. After all, "what would we feel if Staten Island were held by another country?"

Mr. Hiss is proud of his part in the Yalta sell-out, and declares that "we had to have a summit conference then." He solemnly maintains that the Russians haven't broken their promises to allow free and unfettered elections in Eastern Europe.

"I think," says Mr. Hiss, "there were phrases which were understood differently by different sides."

If Mr. Hiss' pronouncements have a hollow sound, one only has to remember that a jury of his peers sent him to jail for perjury. And if they didn't believe him when he was under oath, why should a TV audience believe him now?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A blonde, 20-year-old San Francisco photographer's model announced Tuesday she would marry Prince Abol Bakhtiari, a cousin of the Shah of Iran. Sharon, Daughterty said she met the 30 - year - old member of the Iranian royal family at a party here more than a year ago.

How To Keep Well

THANKSGIVING

THANKSGIVING, should be of particular importance to our senior citizens who have passed their 65th birthday. They should be thankful to be alive — doubly so if in excellent health.

Older individuals need not consider themselves thru unless they spend their days aimlessly and have allowed their bodies and minds to deteriorate. A longer life expectancy is encouraged by acquiring objectives and goals that lead to community usefulness.

According to Dr. Edward L. Bortz of Philadelphia, a past president of the American Medical association, training and exercise will increase the industry and vitality of older men and vitality of older men and women, as well as their zest for living. But to do the job right, proper motivation is needed.

The activities of the elderly depend upon their personal interests, emotional drives, and sense of values. It is high time for the 15 million men and women over 65 to take a more active role in shaping out destiny. This reservoir of knowledge, experience, and wisdom should not be wasted thru retirement and isolation. A few oldsters with a broader and clearer appreciation of human needs could help make the world healthier and happier.

The majority of our oldsters lack the motivation because in America the accent is on youth, moon rockets, sputniks, and atomic submarines are stealing the show. Stiil, many are beginning to wonder when our best brains will come up with something to satisfy the inner man.

We need to look into our values, to set up more lofty goals, to live peaceably with our neighbors, and to learn the true meaning of love. Our younger and more brilliant scientists may get us to the moon but it will take the old guard to get us back —into a more balanced life of happiness and contentment.

REVACCINATION

D. R. writes: I was vaccinated against smallpox as a child and have a big scar on my arm to prove it. Do I need to have this done again, even if I do not plan to visit a foreign country?

REPLY

No law will force you to. But revaccination is advisable every five to seven years, because immunity wanes. It is possible that you have lost all your protection against this disease.

TRACING RADIOACTIVITY

R. J. writes: What is meant by a tracer study?

REPLY

Radioactive chemicals are administered and their course thru the body is traced with a geiger counter. Radioactive iodine, for example, ends up in the thyroid. Tracer substances are used in a variety of scientific studies, including agriculture and industry, as well as medicine.

GRIPPE OR FLU

K. V. writes: Is intestinal grippe the same as intestinal flu?

REPLY

Yes. The physician finds the diagnosis convenient as an explanation for the nausea, vomiting, or diarrhea that occurs in conjunction with a respiratory infection.

DILATES BLOOD VESSELS

H. W. writes: What does nicotinic acid do in Meniere's disease?

REPLY

Nicotinic acid dilates the blood vessels, which improves circulation. This substance is not the best remedy in Meniere' syndrome unless it is caused by a disturbance in circulation.

NO RETURN

L. P. writes: If a cataract has been removed, is there any danger it will return?

REPLY

No, because the cloudy and opaque lens cannot regrow.

YOUTH CONVICTED

UNHAPPY ABOUT MOVIE BEING MADE IN FLORIDA — Barbara Drake, who says girls in Hollywood are prettier than those in Florida, is unhappy that Frank Sinatra is making a movie with Florida lovelies. Things were bad enough when pretty girls were left out in the cold because of the great trend toward Westerns—but the crowning blow according to Barbara was Sinatra's using Florida girls in "A Hole in the Head." VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

The Celebrities

Paris reports have it that even Francoise Sagan's psychoanalyst is beginning to yell "Oncle!" . . . A funny thing happened to William Saroyan when he checked into his hotel in Copenhagen. He was bombarded with flowers and phone calls from high ranking officials the minute he checked in, and he'll have fun telling stateside friends why he got all the red carpet treatment. It seems a Danish broadcaster announced his arrival and whereabouts over the air waves, and ever so many people got his name mixed up with that of Soraya, the beautiful former Empress of Iran.

Lance Reventlow had best look into some elevator shoes. His best girl, Jill St. John, has been gurgling about the six-feet-four leading man they've assigned her for "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker." He's Ron Ely, and he made her exclaim, "At last I've found someone who is able to make me feel wonderfully petite."

Jean Cocteau must be living in a dream world. He tells chums Elizabeth Taylor is going to star in the screen version of his play, "The Eagle Has Two Heads" — and he thinks she'd be just ideal for the role orignally played by Tallulah Bankhead. If the drama ever does get translated to the cinema,it is to be devoutly hoped that a brace of scenarists will be hired to rewrite the original manuscript, which was one of the worst bores in the history of Broadway flops. If Liz Taylor is considering doing it, there's proof indeed that she's flipped over more than Eddie Fisher.

Handsome film hero, Jeff Hunter treated his wife to a costly pair of emerald earrings at the Carlton House jewelry salon the other day, to celebrate happy news. They'd just been given word that the stork is on his way to their house. Mrs. Hunter is beautiful Dusty Bartlett, formerly a top model.

Talk about preparedness. The annual A. W. V. S. round robin golf tournament won't be held until next June 3, but Sammy Kaye, chairman of the celebrity committee, already has begun to sign up famous amateurs. (Small quiz question: In this jet age, how many show biz greats know where they'll be next June 3?) . . . If you're shockable, don't read Jack Kerouac's new book about the beatnicks, "The Dharma Bums." It's quite salty.

Rex Harrison's 24-year-old son, Noel, must be as romantic as Dad was when he was in there pitching. As of this writing he's involved in the marital problems of two about-to-be divorcees.

La Cote Basque (on the site of the old Pavillon, and operated by the incomparable Henri Soule) is proving to be quite a setting for feminine glamor — especially on Monday nights. Example: on a single evening, the newly opened restaurant served as a backdrop for such elegant and beautiful ladies as Marlene Dietrich, Marti Stevens, Henrietta Tiarks, Mrs. John Barry Ryan, III, Charlene Cassini, Carol Portago, Mrs. Charles Amory, Mrs. Ruby Schinasi and Maria Callas.

France Nuyen's pals think she has it bad for Marlon Brando . . . Delores Andrews, the singer, is giving out the news that the new purple convertible outside her front door was a present from Sammy Davis Jr.

Silent Night, Holy Night Note: A mail order firm is advertising a leather whip six feet long as the perfect Christmas gift for your loved one . . . The magazine publishing world expects scads of news to come out of McCall's before long . . . The Hickory House celebration of its 25th birthday (the last week in November) should be a gasser, with such bright names as Buddy Rich, Marian McPartland, Joe Marsala, Wingy Manone and Joey Bushkin participating.

If you think Charles Adams is far out enough, dig the kicks of Lucia Bose, the Italian film star married to matador Luis Miguel Dominguin. She keeps the ears of the most ferocious bulls her husband has killed in a deep freeze box in their Madrid home. ("Senora, what interesting hors d'oeuvres you serve!")

Brigette Bardot's most recent visits to her doctor have illustrated her edginess dramatically . . . Max Baer plans to give up his house in California to move to England and open a restaurant . . . Jazz promoter Pete Long adores girl trumpeter Connie Doran.

Interesting historical note: the jet plane Pan American uses on its European run is as long as the distance the Wright brothers flew on their very first try . . . Putnam's expect to publish former Mayor Bill O'Dwyer's memoirs in 1960 . . . Woody Herman and Joe Glaser have parted, with Woody setting up his own management office.

Barrie Chase, who registered so strongly on the triumphantly successful Fred Astaire TV spectacular, will get the star build-up with a vengeance. (Her own life history is as fascinating as any script the flickers are liable to hand her.)

The Robin Farringtons (she's Vivien Leigh's daughter, Suzanne) will be squared away with a new home and a new life — far from the dazzling orbit of Sir Laurence and Lady Olivier — by the time their first child arrives next month. They're moving to Canterbury, where he'll toil for a brewery. He used to work for Lloyd's of London.

West Virginia leads the nation in coal production. It is also a leading producer of steel, glass and aluminum.

ACROSS THE BOARD

Administration Cuts Manpower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration, after postponing action because of two war scares, is beginning an across-the-board cut in military manpower.

Secretary of Defense McElroy announced orders Wednesday for a reduction of some 71,000 in Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps manpower. At the same time, the Army reduced its draft call for January.

The Pentagon plan is to trim the over-all strength of the armed services from 2,596,282 to 2,525,000 by June 30 when the current fiscal year ends.

President Eisenhower first announced plans to reduce military manpower last winter when he sent his 1958-59 budget to Congress. But the cut was postponed because of war scares in the Middle East and the Formosa Strait.

Congress sought to head off the administration's announced plans to trim Army manpower by 30,000 and the Marines by 25,000. Going beyond Eisenhower's budget requests, Congress provided extra funds to keep the Army at 900,000 men and the Marines at 200,000. Those levels weren't made mandatory, however.

Under the cutback program announced by McElroy, the Army faces the biggest cut—31,793 men—in seeking a June strength goal of 870,000.

The Marines, with an estimated strength of 189,361, will have to drop about 14,000 men. The Navy must cut back by about 11,000 to reach a 630,000 leve. The Air Force, now estimated at 863,000 men, must reduce by about 13,800.

The Army cut its January draft call to 9,000 men. That is 2,000 below the number it has called up the last several months.

Morals Charge Filed Against High Diplomat

LONDON (AP) — Ian Douglas, third-ranking official in the British Foreign Office, was accused in Magistrates Court today of committing a homosexual act with a private in the Coldstream Guards.

The hearing was adjourned until Dec. 10 to permit the police to arrange legal representation.

Neither Harvey, who is undersecretary for foreign affairs, nor the soldier, Walter Plant, 19, entered a plea. Each was released on bail of 25 pounds ($70).

The tall, graying official, a dignified man of 44, and Plant were arrested Wednesday night in St. James' Park opposite Buckingham Palace. They were charged with committing an act of gross indecency.

No details were given.

Harvey appeared in court bareheaded, wearing a dark overcoat over a dark gray suit. The soldier was in uniform.

Harvey, who has represented East Harrow in Parliament since 1950, was married in 1949 to the daughter of Sir Basil Mayhew. He is one of the Conservative government's leading spokesmen on foreign affairs in Parliament.

Homosexuality in Britain is a major social problem which has evoked much concern among church and social bodies. A government inquiry group, known as the Wolfenden Committee after its chairman Sir John Wolfenden, recommended last year that acts of homosexuality between consenting adults no longer be a criminal offense.

Experts Differ On Tremor Cause

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Experts differ on the cause of a mysterious earth tremor here yesterday.

Dr. Richard Russell, dean of the Louisiana State University Graduate School and a geology professor, said it could have been a very minor earthquake. But the seismologist at Loyola University ir New Orleans said it might have been some kind of sub-surface explosion.

Officials were unable to find any trace of an explosion. And the Weather Bureau said there was no sign of freak weather and no jet planes were trying to break the sound barrier.

The shock was felt about 12:15 p.m. It lasted about 10 seconds and was reported as far north as Baker, five miles away, and as far east as Denham Springs, about 10 miles away.

The Weather Bureau said some people reported they ran from their shaking houses.

The Air Force base and many other places reported rattling windows. A girl secretary said windows in the 34-story state capitol basement cafeteria rattled so loudly that people moved curtains to find the cause.

Dr. Russell, in explaining his earthquake theory, said the region has many faults or breaks extending to the rocks below and often small slips occur which shake the surface.

The reason the state hasn't had any widespread or severe shocks since 1812, he said, is that vibrations don't travel very far through loose materials, such as delta deposits.

This country loses about half a million acres of good land each year to erosion.

Actor's Body Is Returned To Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The body of motion picture star Tyrone Power was returned to Hollywod Wednesday night. The scene was filled with sadness for his widow, Deborah Ann.

Only handful of newsmen and the late actor's close business associates were present when the canvas-covered casket was lowered from the cargo hold of a plane at International Airport.

Power, 44, died of a heart attack in Madrid Saturday.

Mrs. Power, 26, who accompanied the body from Spain, was escorted to a waiting limousine. She is expecting a child in February.

When flash bulbs started popping, she burst into tears and rushed into the arms of Power's business manager, A. Morgan Maree.

As plans were completed for his funeral Friday noon in the Hollywood Cemetery chapel, a rift over protocol seemed over, Power's second wife, actress Linda Christian, announced she and their two daughters would not attend the rites.

Instead, Miss Christian said, they planned to pray for him in St. Martin of Tours Catholic church in Beverly Hills.

"Our children have a beautiful idea of death, and I wish to preserve that," she said.

Power's widow had been quoted earlier as saying, "A funeral is a private affair," and also that it was her wish that the actor's daughters—Romina, 8, and Taryn, 6—remember their father as he was in life.

Power's body will be interred near the crypt of Rudolph Valentino—movie idol of an earlier era.

SWISH OR OTHERWISE

Diamond Dealer Tired Of Tangos

NEW YORK (AP) — Two or 200 persons may tango over Leon Tom's head, but they'd better swish, not stomp.

That's the implication of a court ruling Wednesday. The effect on Tom, a dealer in diamonds, is apt to be countless sleepless nights.

Many times in the past 3½ years, Tom has complained to police of noise-shattering nights in which he had to flee to his office to escape Luis' heavy-footed students.

Two convictions failed to deter Luis from his art. The usual charge brought him before Magistrate Walter J. Bayer Wednesday.

Luis said he always wears sneakers, except when instructing. Then he wears thin-soled slippers.

The instructor said that, as he interprets the dance, he teaches his pupils to glide, to swish, but never to stomp.

Luis and Eileen Engleman of Linden, N.J., a student for three years, twirled, swirled and rocked before the judge. They didn't stamp their feet. There was no noise.

Then Alice Lacour, a blonde pupil, took the stand.

Asked if she should be called Miss or Mrs., she said, "Just call me Alice."

"It was a silent studio," she told the judge "and very refined."

"The court holds there is reasonable doubt," Bayer said. "Therefore, I find the defendant not guilty and the charge is dismissed."

More Brokers To Testify In Fraud Probe

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—More cotton brokers were expected to testify today about conditions on the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges the day two Volkart brothers firms are charged with manipulating prices on more than 12 million dollars in transactions.

Several witnesses testified at the opening session of the hearing yesterday that the situation on the exchanges on Oct. 15, 1957, was such that it would have been possible to sell the October, 1957, futures for more than their true market value.

Lawrence Richmond, a registered floor broker on the New Orleans exchange, admitted under questioning by government attorney Ben Holstein that possibly the squeeze situation existed on the day in question.

Dan T. Manget Jr. of New Orleans, a past president of the New Orleans Exchange, said the supply of cotton on both the New Orleans and New York exchanges that day was "pretty well locked up" by Volkart Brothers Inc., a New York corporation with New Orleans offices, and Volkart Brothers Co. of New York City.

Eli Tullis, a New Orleans floor broker and cotton futures solicitor for the E. F. Hutton & Co., brokerage firm, said Volkart's large supply of October, 1957 cotton futures was generally known among brokers.

"It had been gossiped around for at least a week that Volkart had the long position," he said.

Tullis admitted under cross-examination by Harry Kelleher, lawyer for Volkart, that he had no way of knowing what Volkart may have been negotiating for in New York.

Continuous Law Breaking Noted At 75 Locations

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— Frank Langridge, Jefferson parish district attorney, today has a list of 75 locations where "continuous law violations have been reported."

The list accompanied a scathing letter from the New Orleans Metropolitan crime commission director, Aaron Kohn, who warned Langridge:

"You have within your delegated powers the key which can open the door to facts concerning aspects of organized crime in the (Jefferson) parish."

The list and the letter were dispatched to Langridge at the request of the Women's alliance for political action in Jefferson parish.

The women's group is trying to oust organized gambling in the parish which they say exists, but Sheriff William Coci says he can't find.

Longridge was not available for comment Wednesday on the matter. Coci has been unavailable for comment as far as the women's political group is concerned, for the past several weeks.

FIELD AUDIT HEAD

BATON ROUGE (UPI)— Robert Roland, state collector of revenues named Francis Lee, a career employee, to head the newly created field audit division of the revenue department. Roland said the new post would enable the revenue department to "make more audits at less expense to the state and with less inconvenience to the taxpayer."

Wearing Of The Green, Purple Quite In Harmony

VATICAN CITY (AP)—In U.S. catholicism, the wearing of the green and the wearing of the purple still go hand in hand.

Both the new cardinals-designate, Archbishops Richard James Cushing of Boston and John O'Hara of Philadelphia, are of Irish ancestry.

With their elevation to the purple at the Dec. 15 consistory, all four American cardinals will be of Irish stock.

With only one exception, that has been true of every U.S. cardinal since John McCloskey brought the red hat to New York in 1875. That exception was George Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago — of German ancestry.

Miami Bids For '60 Convention

TALLAHASSE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Leroy Collins today carried Miami Beach's bid for the 1960 Democratic national convention direct to the chairman of the committee which will recommend the site.

He went to New Orleans for a conference tomorrow with Camille Gravel, national committeeman from Louisiana.

Collins said Gravel had planned originally to accompany Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler to Miami Beach this week but was unable to arrange his schedule.

Following a conference here yesterday with Butler, Collins said he felt encouraged over Miami Beach's chances, but he cautioned against over-optimism.

Butler himself said he felt Miami Beach stood at least an even chance of landing the big political show.

The selection will be made by the Democratic National Committee in Washington Dec. 6. Other cities bidding for the convention are Chicago, New York City, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Atlantic City.

Should the Democrats decide to come to Miami Beach, Collins said there was a good chance for landing the Republican National Convention, too, since there would be considerable savings in having both conventions at the same location. The Republicans won't make their choice until after Jan. 1.

NAA Warned Not To Relax Its Vigilance

PARIS (AP)—Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak warned North Atlantic Alliance legislators today not to reject a friendly nation's appeal for help against internal subversion and external pressure.

The Soviet Union will use subversion and pressure in the future in Asia and Africa, Spaak predicted. He said the same tactics might be applied again in Europe if the North Atlantic Alliance relaxes its vigilance.

Spaak said the United States and Britain had been right to answer appeals from Lebanon and Jordan last summer for aid to meet subversion and pressure.

Spaak said he also approved the U.S. position on the Quemoy bombardment; that the Chinese Communists couldn't expect to achieve their objectives by using force.

The parliamentary group's political committee approved a resolution declaring that the West should resist Soviet withdrawal from the Berlin occupation authority as a "flagrant unilateral renunciation of international agreements."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of the United States, (D-Tenn), chairman of the political committee, declared: "We are living by principles. One of these principles is that we are not giving an inch in those places in which we know our cause is right and honorable. Berlin is such a place."

He asked the NATO legislators to adopt the Berlin resolution with "a ringing vote so that no Soviet ear will miss it."

Express High Hopes For New TB Vaccine

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Two research scientists have expressed high hopes for a new anti-tuberculosis vaccine they developed.

They announced Wednesday that seven years of tests with animals and humans indicated the vaccine, Ri. is safe and reasonably effective.

Dr. Stuart Willis, chief investigator in the project, said however that six more years of testing will be required to establish the vaccine's effectiveness in humans.

Willis' co-worker, Dr. H. Mac Vandiviere, said new methods of TB treatment have drastically reduced the death rate from the disease—although the number of TB cases has declined very little.

Both men are employed by the State Sanitorium System, which embraces the state's TB hospitals.

Safety of the vaccine has been demonstrated through tests with 6,000 animals, Willis said. "At the present time, 1,600 people have been included in human studies evaluating R1, confirming the findings in animals as to its safety." He added.

"The true value of the vaccine will, of course, not be known until it has been tried with large numbers of people in a country such as Haiti where the death rate is almost 50 times greater than it is here and exposure to TB is certain," Vandiviere said.

$1,000 DEMOCRATS

New Exclusive Club In Making

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new exclusive club may be in the making—open only to Democrats with a thousand dollars to spare.

The Democratic National Committee expects to discuss the club, and other fund raising possibilities, at its Dec. 6 meeting.

The party is about $700,000 in the red. If 700 Democrats joined a proposed "700 Club" for $1,000 each, they would wipe out the debt.

Kenneth M. Birkhead, the committee's finance director, said efforts would be made to recruit club members from among Democrats wealthy enough to contribute $1,000 each. The biggest drive would be made in those states that had the biggest Democratic gains in the Nov. 4 elections.

About $600,000 of the Democratic deficit is a legacy of the 1956 elections, when Adlai Stevenson was defeated by President Eisenhower.

Celler Scores Rights Agency As Ineffective

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) today criticized the Civil Rights Commission as ineffective. He said his House Judiciary Committee will investigate it and the enforcement of civil rights legislation generally.

"I have no faith in that commission whatsoever," Celler said in an interview. "Little or nothing can be expected from it."

Celler, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said Congress must consider a broad civil rights act such as he originally sponsored. The 1957 law as enacted concentrates largely on enforcement of voting rights.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said yesterday new civil rights legislation doesn't figure in his plans for the coming session.

However, Celler said that as soon as possible after Congress convenes in January, his committee will "conduct a full scale hearing on the present conditions relative to minorities and their rights, plus the operation of the present civil rights law to determine whether it should be strengthened or enlarged."

Celler contended that the presidentially appointed Civil Rights Commission provided under the law to study alleged denials of rights "has never gotten off the ground."

Students Conduct Orderly Protest Against New Edict

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) —University of Virginia students conducted an orderly protest meeting against the administration Wednesday night, just 24 hours after they staged one of the wildest riots in recent memory.

The meeting was called by the Student Council so students could air their grievances and bring in concrete examples of what was termed questionable administrative decisions.

At the center of the unrest is a new university regulation which will prohibit automobiles to all but seniors after 1961. Some students also protested against B. F. D. Runk, student advisor and university registrar.

A loud cheer went up when it was suggested that the students present concrete evidence of what they termed Runk's arbitrary and unreasonable decisions on student policy and try to have him removed from office.

More meetings were planned and no action was taken at this meeting.

The gathering was in marked contrast to the previous night when a mob of 2,000 students demonstrated before police broke up the spree with tear gas.

Aerial Spraying Nice Work If You Can Get It

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Weeding by airplane—sounds like nice work if you can get it.

Louisiana State University has devloped a system of weeding out undesirable hardwood trees from "pine is the South's biggest comthat kills hardwoods but not pine trees.

Aerial spraying is the most practical way to clear out hardwoods in large wooded tracts.

Dr. Paul Y. Burns, director of the LSU school of forestry, explains the three-year research project was necessary because "pine is the SSouth's biggest commercial tree crop.

"Low-value hardwoods in pine sites shade the valuable trees and stunt their growth," he continued. "Under a canopy of hardwoods, pine will not grow more than two or three inches a year; with sufficient sunlight it will grow two to three feet per year, and the quality of wood is better."

Rotarians Get Youth Program

Members of the Monroe Rotary Club today heard demonstrations of how youngsters can learn to speak and sing in the Spanish language, when several members of the First Methodist Church kindergarten in West Monroe appeared before the group. The club held its regular weekly meeting in the ball room of the Virginia Hotel.

Under the direction of Mrs. L. G. Cook, director of the kindergarten, and Miss Gerry Lester, senior at Northeast Louisiana State College, the group sang several songs in Spanish and named the members of their families. Miss Lester instructs the children in their study of Spanish.

Accompanying the children during the singing was Miss Margaret Robinson, a graduate of the University of Kentucky and director of music for the kindergarten.

Raymond Potter is program chairman for today's meeting of the club.

Drunk Drivers Get Court Fines

Two men were fined in Fourth District Court here Wednesday on charges of driving while intoxicated, and a Texas woman received a one-year suspended jail sentence after she pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing a bogus check.

Sentenced on the drunken driving counts were Tom Slavant, Jr., who was given a fine of $300 or 60 days in jail, plus $25 or 10 days in jail for driving without a license, and Thomas F. Sims, who was fined $300 or 60 days in jail.

Lenzie Dowen drew a $25 fine or 10 days in jail for driving without a license, and James Balfour was given a similar sentence for speeding.

Mrs. William W. Summers, 34, of Houston, Texas, pleaded guilty to issuing a $353.70 worthless check here and was sentenced to a year in jail, but Judge David I. Garrett ordered the woman placed on probation.

Look Magazine Halted 24 Hours

PARIS (AP) — The current issue of Look magazine, which questioned Information Minister Jacques Soustelle's role in France, was blocked 24 hours by customs officials.

The Interior Ministry said today that the magazine could be distributed. The ministry attributed the delay to normal customs examination.

Deficit Still Exists In City Bus Department

The City of Monroe Bus Department is still losing approximately $6,000, per month, according to Commissioner H. W. McSherry.

Long a financial headache with the city administration, the bus department showed a net loss of $71,900 in fiscal year 1958 and Commissioner H. W. McSherry said the trend would be the same during this fiscal year.

McSherry pointed out, however, that the deficit would have been reduced by $28,822.64 in fiscal year '58 had it not been for two "necessary steps."

First off, an act of the Louisiana Legislature created a $9,596 pension and relief fund for employes and financed mostly by the city.

McSherry said, secondly, the city gave its bus employes a "long deserved" raise, which amounted to $7,226.64.

The creation of the relief and pension fund and the pay raise outstripped a $12,000 savings in department gasoline, McSherry explained.

"If it hadn't been for these necessary steps, we could have reduced the deficit with this $12,000 savings in gasoline," he stated.

Several months ago McSherry revamped the bus schedules in an effort to cut down on the expense of the department. The department operates on a seven-day-a-week basis.

"The operation of buses is a losing thing all over the country," McSherry said. "We're losing money in Monroe simply because we don't have that many riders."

But he said it was "necessary" that the city operate a bus system. "A city the size of Monroe couldn't afford not to," he said.

Mayor Vows To Defend Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin declared today the Western Allies have promised without reservation to defend this Communist-threatened city.

Speaking before the city's Parliament, the 44-year-old mayor defied the Soviet Union to shake the confidence of isolated West Berlin.

Brandt reassured the 2,200,000 citizens shortly after the Soviet ambassador in Bonn, Andrei Smirnov, told West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the Soviet intention to "realize the liquidation of the occupation status of Berlin."

Brandt said the Communist drive to shake the economy of West Berlin, 110 miles deep in Communist East Germany, would not succeed.

"Berlin remains the capital of Germany," he declared. "Free Berlin belongs to the free West."

"We have been through this before," said a cleaning woman in a typical remark, recalling the abortive Soviet blockade of 1948-49.

Jet On Rail Track Wrecks 7-Car Train

EL TORO, Calif. (AP)—A jet fighter plane overshot an airfield and crashed on railroad tracks Wednesday. Seconds later, a seven-car passenger train plowed into the plane.

The train sent the jet cartwheeling through the air. The plane came to rest against a lounge car containing 30 passengers. Jet fuel exploded in flames.

The locomotive and four cars were derailed. Three sections of track were torn up. But no one was seriously injured.

The plane's pilot, who suffered only bruises, was the most seriously hurt.

"I'd say the good Lord had his arm around a lot of people," said a spokesman at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, where the jet was practicing landings.

Hero of the near-disaster was Pat Schamber, brakeman on the Santa Fe's San Diegan, bound to San Diego from Los Angeles with 130 passengers and crew.

He dragged the stunned pilot, Marine 2nd Lt. Phillip M. Schmidt 23 from the wreckage. When they were about 50 feet away the F4D skyray burst into flames.

Schmidt, practicing a power-off landing, overshot a steel cable across the runway on which the plane was to hook. The jet bounced over an 8-foot fence, streaked across a beanfield, sheared off a power pole and slammed onto the railroad tracks.

"I saw nothing but a cloud of dust on the tracks about 250 feet ahead of me," said engineer William Ryder, 63. "I put on the emergency brake. Two or three seconds later came the impact. It took another 127 yards to bring the train to a halt."

The metal train did not catch fire. El Toro Marine fire trucks arrived in about three minutes and extinguished the flames with foam.

The pilot, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Schmidt Cincinnati, was taken to the station hospital for observation.

May Need Money To Fight Enemies

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) predicted last night tax funds may be required to fight what he called the propaganda leveled against the South by its enemies.

Eastland, speaking at the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation convention banquet, praised the state farm bureau organizations and said most of them have stuck by the South in its struggle to maintain segregation and states' rights.

Eastland said the tide is now turning, helped by what he termed the numerous decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court in favor of Communism.

"Segregation is just one symptom of the Communist effort to overthrow our government," Eastland said. "The Southern people have got to lay their case before the nation, and we must use our tax money to get the job done."

He said two newspaper ads placed in a New York paper to support the Southern position drew sell-outs of the editions in New York and Washington.

"Lay your case before the American people and you will be amazed to find how similar their opinions are to those of our own people on segregation and other issues," Eastland said.

He also criticized some church groups for accepting funds in good faith from organizations that he called Communist-front groups.

He said Frank Myers, a Communist party leader in this country who has broken with the organization, has testifid the Communists have no interest in the Negro, but are using the Negro to stir race feelings that will contribute to the downfall of the nation.

Dog Track Owner May Sue Sinatra For Pact Break

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—A Miami dog track owner has threatened to sue singer-actor Frank Sinatra for backing out of an alleged agreement to show up at the races Wednesday night.

Isadore Hecht, president of the West Flagler Kennel Club, said he would take the needed legal action to prevent a movie company from using parts of a film it shot at the track.

Hecht claimed that Bernard Frank, whom he identified as Sinatra's local representative, approved a publicity agreement in which the crooner was to appear to present a trophy after the 10th race.

The dog track owner said Sinatra, here for the filming of "A Hole In the Head," was to make the appearance in payment for footage the movie company took at the track.

A spokesman at the Fountainebleau Hotel where Sinatra was staying said he was in bed with a 104-degree temperature Wednesday night.

MISSILE FALLS SHORT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force disclosed Wednesday night that an Atlas missile launched Tuesday fell about 1,000 miles short of its programmed 3,000-mile flight, but otherwise was "fully successful."

That's what Superior Judge Philip Richards wanted to know. So he visited the boy at his school Wednesday. The judge indicated he will take the case under study upon completion of arguments today.

Miss. To Be Industrial, Speaker Says

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — "Mississippi may well become the foremost industrial state of the nation within our lifetime," a banker told the junior college conference on technical education.

J. D. Wise, executive vice president of the Bank of Hazlehurst, said "climate, water resources and human potentialities all favor this development."

Wise told the annual meeting held at Mississippi State yesterday, that a technical revolution is already under way in agriculture and industry and the state's future promises great increases in average incomes.

Elliott Trimble, editor of The Natchez Times, reported Mississippi is making progress in industrialization. But he contended that more rapid progress could be made by proper development of natural resources, developing cooperative attitudes toward business and industry, advertising the state's potential and solving its social and political problems in a way that will not create hatred and disrupt education.

Trimble proposed a division of labor among educational institutions.

He said senior colleges and universities could concentrate on professional men, engineers and scientists. Junior colleges could emphasize courses for training technicians or technical engineers. High schools and trade schools could train craftsmen.

SAYS JACKSON AIDE

Long Wrecked School Lunches

BATON ROUGE (UPI) —A top official in the state department of education says Gov. Earl Long's special legislative session wrecked the school lunch program "and he knew what they were doing at the time."

George (Byron) Benson, director of finance for Shelby Jackson's education department, said Wednesday state aid to the school lunch programs would be cut in half.

The legislature sliced some $4.5 million from the school lunch funds to compensate for what they termed an equal "surplus" in the Education department administered program.

"You can't cut $4.5 million out of the budget and maintain the same level when you are serving more hot meals this year than last," said Benson.

The only solution, he adds, is to raise the price of the hot lunches for the school children.

Both Jackson and Benson hotly questioned the existance of a "surplus" in the school lunch funds before the house and the senate during the special legislative session.

Jackson said the "surplus" was an operating balance and Benson said the $4.5 million amount was figured as of June, 30.

"It's not there now," he says. "The school districts used the money between then and Sept. 1 to buy equipment and supplies. Some of the districts have nothing left."

The present payments under a reimbursement program from the education department to the parish school lunch funds for each participating pupil are 17 cents.

Benson pointed out that under Act 100 of the 1958 Legislature parishes are guaranteed 14 cents per meal from the state, but the administration bill passed during the special session wipes this guarantee out.

Jackson told the legislators that the reimbursements from the state under the new act will amount to about 9.6 cents or approximately half the present 17 cents being paid.

"It depends on how much longer we continue to pay the 17 cents," Benson explained. "It might be more or less and the 9.6 figure is an estimate."

But he charged the governor with knowing in advance that "when he cut the appropriation there would not be enough to guarantee 14 cents."

Benson said the education department establishes the rate of reimbursement to the individual parishes but has nothing to do with the fiscal affairs of each individual school board.

"It means that if the local board doesn't have the money to maintain the same levels of meals, the cost is going to have to be passed onto the child," Benson concluded.

Track Of Land Proves To Be Slim Picking

GREENVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Sounds like a bargain when a firm acquires a piece of land 125 feet in length for just a dollar but not in this case.

The Greenville City Council sold the property to the Delta Commercial Property Development Corp. for that amount to clear up any possible legal trouble in the future.

The reason: Surveyers found that a building owned by Delta intringed on city property.

Gravel Roasts Republicans In Orleans Talk

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Camille F. Gravel, focal point of an unsettled controversy inside the Democratic party, roasted Republicans in a partisan political speech here Wednesday.

"Coolidge went nowhere, accomplished nothing. He simply held on," the Alexandria attorney told members of the New Orleans Young Mens business club.

Gravel said the Democrats strive to "expand our government from the bottom by broadening its base," but he warned that his party is not for everyone.

"Some people just don't like change, some are rather static. Others care little for ideas and people. None of these would feel very comfortable in the Democratic party," he said.

Prison Terms For 2 Airmen Upheld

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's Supreme Court upheld today prison terms imposed on two U.S. airmen for injuring a Japanese taxi driver in an attempt to rob him.

Airman W.C. Andrew N. Hartman, 21, of Hogansville, Ga., and Airman 3.C. Phillip W. Morris, 21, of North Platte, Neb., were sentenced last Nov. 30 to 4 and 3½ years's imprisonment respectively. They have no further avenue of appeal.

The prosecution said Hartman hit the driver on the head with a beer bottle in Yokohama on May 5, 1957, while Morris was with him. They fled without getting any money from the driver and without paying their fare of 62 cents.

Phil Harris Hurt Slightly In Collision

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Entertainer Phil Harris said he had a premonition Wednesday minutes before he received minor injuries in the crash of the taxi in which he was riding and another cab.

"I had a feeling, a premonition, that something was going to happen," said Harris. "So when I saw the crash coming I just put both feet up on the back of the front seat."

The 51-year - old former band leader and husband of actress Alice Faye received only bruises of his shoulder and ankle.

Mrs. Florence E. Feldner, 44, driver of the other cab, was taken to Hollywood Receiving hospital with possible head and back injuries and cab driver Charles Schooley, 62, was treated at the scene for minor head cuts.

Bistro Owner Sues Over Name

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The cryptic question concerning "what's in a name" has an answer today in New Orleans. In this case it's a lawsuit.

Cora I, Sund, operator of three separate restaurants called the "Beachcomber" in Hollywood, Calif., Chicago and Palm Springs, filed suit Wednesday in Federal court against bar owner Lester Bouchon.

Mrs. Sund charges Bouchon with "unfair competition and infringement of a registered name" and wants damages from him.

Boy Hangs Self In Clothes Closet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A boy hanged himself Wednesday night in his clothes closet after, police said, he delivered an ultimatum to his mother about school homework.

Det. Sgts. Peter Zazanis and J. C. Wilson identified the victim as Everett W. Byrd, 14.

They quoted his mother, Mrs. Nancy Byrd, as saying the son asked her to help him with some spelling exercises. She said she asked him to do the work alone until she could join him following their meal.

MICHALINA SEFEL

IN AMERICA

Girl Tells Of Brighter Days

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"I love America, and I don't want to live anywhere else.

"I feel so many Americans don't appreciate it.

"Many books have been written about concentration camps and war. I want mine to be mostly about America.

"There is so much suffering and there are so many disappointments in life, I want people to know there are brighter days and so much to be done."

In moving passages, such as these, a lovely girl refugee from Romania tells of the peace and stimulus she has found in this country.

Ever since 21-year-old Michalina Sefel came to the United States with her family about 10 years ago she has kept a diary, pouring out her deepest feelings.

Many who have read it believe she has produced a warm, human, significant document worthy to be named with "The Diary of Anne Frank," that poignant record of life lived in secret under the Nazi terror in Holland.

Anne Frank did not survive her ordeal. Michalina Sefel did.

And life in America may turn out to be far richer than she ever dared dream.

In the years since her arrival, Michalina has worked at many jobs—as waitress, clerk, secretary teacher, and more recently as a model.

While modeling in Miami two weeks ago, she related Sunday, she met Jerry Wald, producer for 20th Century Fox. From all reports he was fascinated by her accent, a blend from the seven languages she knows. Her personal history made a deeper impression.

Through Wald, she got in touch with a New York publishing firm and came away encouraged. While in New York she also took a screen test.

Michalina was born in the province of Bukovina. When she was 7 her family, fleeing from the Red army, bolted headlong into the arms of the retreating Germans.

The mother, Michalina and her brother, John, three years her junior, were taken to one concentration camp, the father to another. They were starved, flogged, used for target practice. Michalina said her captors shot her in one leg the first year of horror and later once in each leg.

"I don't know how we did it, but we survived several of these dreadful camps, including Dachau," she said. "We were bombed and shelled and no longer felt human at all.

"When the war ended we somehow were reunited in a displaced persons' camp at Munich."

A farmer lixing near Appomatox, Va. sponsored their coming to America. The father, William, was a farmer in Romania before the war. He helped his benefactor, earning enough to repay the passage money and saving up to come to Philadelphia.

Not long after the Sefels came here, the father suffered a stroke, became paralyzed. Mother and daughter have worked ever since, the former as a seamstress. The son is in the Air Force.

"My worry now is about my parents." Michalina said. "They are not old. Mother is only 44. Her health is not good. But both are tired, worn out. Although father is only 47, he looks 70. I would be very happy if I could get them a small farm. John sends money to help. We live comfortably. But a farm would be so good for my parents."

Beck Squirms, Yawns On Stand

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Dave Beck Sr. presented a restless picture Wednesday as government attorneys wound their way through a maze of documents in further attempts to prove the former Teamsters' Union president evaded payment of $240,000 in income taxes for 1950-53.

Beck, 64, squirmed and suppressed yawns. By the noon recess he made no effort to conceal his restlessness.

Testimony concerned a number of Beck's personal bills, ranging from $18.50 for gardening work to $27,000 for landscaping the grounds of Beck's Seattle home.

The government is meticulously threading its case, trying to prove to the jury of eight men and four women that Beck's returns for the three-year period did not reflect his true income.

U.S. Atty. Kinsey James showed documents which indicated $4,751 was channeled from the union into an investment firm of Beck's. James then showed that a like sum was transferred from the investment company to a Seattle nursery as part payment on the landscaping bill.

French Modern Painters Bring Record Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly a score of the best-known French modern painters brought record prices Wednesday night as the Parke Bernet Galleries sold 29 paintings for $1,548,500.

The paintings auctioned were part of the collection of hotel executive Arnold Kirkeby of New York and California.

The highest price in the sale was $152,000 paid for Picasso's "Mother and Child." It was the highest sum ever paid at public auction for a Picasso.

Record-breaking prices also were paid for paintings by Matisse, Utrillo, Roualt, Vlaminck, Modigliani, Bonnard, Pisarro, Signac, Segonzac, and Morisot.

Cezanne's "Garcon Couche" was sold for $125,000, and Renoir's "Jardin A Sorrente" brought the third highest price of the sale, $105,000.

Rookie Cop Finds Rebel Arms Cache

NEW YORK (AP)—A rookie patrolman, tracing a bullet in possession of a school student, turned up a varied arms cache assertedly destined or the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Machine guns, hand grenades and other weapons were found Wednesday in the basement of a two-story residence in the Bronx.

Booked on a charge of violating the Sullivan antiweapons law was Henry Barrett, 51, who lives in the house with his wife and eight sons.

Police said Barrett, who came here from County Cork, Ireland, in 1929, admitted the arms were to go to the I.R.A. which seeks to unite Ireland by force.

Taken from the Barrett home were a 60 mm. mortar, two 20 mm. cannon, a number of burp guns, live hand grenades, two Browning machine guns and numerous cases of ammunition.

Patrolman Robert Crowley, 22, began an investigation after his younger brother showed him a .50 caliber bullet given him by a classmate at St. Helena's Roman Catholic School in the Bronx.

After questioning pupils Crowley went to Barrett's home. Then he called in other officers.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Irvin Goldsmith said Barrett has been a sympathizer with the Irish revolutionists since he was 15 years old.

Attorney Paul O'Dwyer, bro- O'Dwyer, announced he would defend Barrett.

Commented the attorney: "It is my understanding that Barrett is charged with aiding and assisting in transportation of arms and ammunition to occupied northeast Ireland. If this be so, his only crime is to aid the cause of liberty."

Wisconsin produces about 13 per cent of the entire nation's output of milk.

FRAUD TRIAL SET

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —Judge Bernard J. Bagert set Dec 2 as the date for the trial of four election commissioners charged with permitting fraudulent votes to be cast in the Feb. 25 elections here. The defendants are Daniel Siriex, John I. Phillips, Michael Hession, and William Webb.

TO MISSISSIPPI

Expect Ducks To Wing Southward

By MIMI NEAL
Associated Press Staff Writer
for Douglas Starr

If this week's nippy weather doesn't bring the ducks winging south to Mississippi, there are going to be a lot of disappointed hunters.

Hunters and fishermen have had a bad time the past few weeks. It's been too warm for ducks, too windy to fish, and the trees have been too leafy to see the squirrels. However, the thermometer has dropped and brought a bright ray of hope for better things to come.

The Game and Fish Commission and every hunter who's talking has assurance that this cool weather is going to bring a lot of ducks in. Except for the first few days of the waterfowl season, the duck hunting has been fairly poor.

The best hunting so far seems to have been in the Delta.

There has been a great exodus of duck hunters this week since the cool spell came. One hunter said he saw between 400 and 500 ducks in a half hour at Matthews Break southwest of Greenwood yesterday.

During the past couple of weeks there have been some reports of good duck hunting around Grenada, Sardis, McIntyre Scatters in Leflore County, Ruleville, Rosedale and Bolivar County.

Hunters who got the limit in ducks near Ruleville last Saturday while the weather was warm, found nothing there yesterday when it was cool, which proves that you can't be sure what ducks are going to do.

The only thing that is fairly certain is that whatever they do, they're going to be coming south to do it, and that means Mississippi.

Deer hunters were poised to start shooting today in a few spots, and on Monday the season opens over most of the state.

Wednesday was the last day of deer hunting for archers, who had 19 days for their sport before the gunmen got their chance. There have been reports of four deer killed with bows and arrows, one in Choctaw County and three in the Delta, the Game and Fish Commission said.

Best prospects for deer are in the game management areas, where the animals have good breeding grounds, protection, and plenty of food.

IT'S OFFICIAL

BATON ROUGE (UPI)— Secretary of State Wade O. Martin officially declared Walter B. Hamlin winner of the First District Supreme Court race against Rene Viosca. Martin said Wednesday Hamlin received 60,376 votes to Viosca's 59,119. "It was one of the closest races for a major post tabulated by my office in recent years," said Martin.

THIS KISS IS DIVORCED FROM THEIR TROUBLES — Arnold Seigal plants kiss on cheek of wife Rene in New York office of lawyer Otto Fusco, left. Kiss was just for benefit of cameras. Married at 17, the couple, now 23 and parents of two, separated months ago. They still work side-by-side in a diner they own but Rene wants a divorce. Arnold, in an attempt to save her the trouble of getting one, crashed his car into a light pole in an apparent suicide try. Rene called him a jerk and slapped his face. She still wants the divorce. He was charged with malicious mischief for damaging the pole. (AP Wirephoto).

Good Martini Hard To Find These Days

SAN FRANCISCO —(UPI) —A good martini is hard to find and The Lower Montgomery Street Olive or Onion Society is trying to do someting about it.

The society was formed in 1951 "dedicated to the propagation of good martinis and the education of bartenders."

It was started by eight businessmen who toil on lower Montgomery Street, the Wall Street of San Francisco. They were discouraged with the quality of their cocktails and began a drive to make martinis as uniform and tasty as possible so that a fellow with a thirst could step into any bar and not be disappointed.

The ranks of the society have never exceeded 40 men, possibly because new members are required to drink a pint-sized goblet of martinis as their initation into the ranks.

After a great deal of "pure research" and 88 different mixtures, the society established itself as something of an authority on the martini. Here is its current prize recipe:

One part domestic vermouth; four parts domestic gin; pour in order into pre-chilled, ice-filled shaker, stirring gently not more than 30 seconds; serve with olive or onion.

Barnet Vogel, archives director, says the society doesn't claim its mixture makes the finest martini, but it does guarantee the most consistently good one. This is because of the more stable quality of domestic liquor, he said.

"However, we don't let the status quo rule," he added. "Every year we try all brands, domestic and imported, and decide on selections. We've changed brands many times and once had an imported vermouth."

As archives director, Vogel claims that the martini was invented in San Francisco. As the story goes, a turn-of-the-century commuter habitually stopped at a certain waterfront bar and ask for a gin and vermouth.

"Mix it quickly," he instructed the bartender. "I have to catch the ferry to Martinez."

Today this unknown pioneer is immortalized in Martinez by an unofficial city flag — a silver cocktail glass with a bent stem on a field of royal blue.

A total of 47 gold mines operated in Canada in 1947, as compared to 54 in 1955, and 144 in 1940.

The Texas Railroad Commission hiked the crude oil production allowable to 12 days, increasing permissible output by 105,094 barrels daily over the mid-November level. Commission Chairman Olin Culberson said the increase was put through because crude oil stocks are sharply below the year-ago level.

The Treasury announced a short term refinancing of $12,201,000,000 of maturing debt and the issuance next month of a new regular series of 26-week securities. In exchange for maturing securities a 3⅜ per cent certificate maturing in 11½ months and a 3⅝ per cent note due in 2½ years. The new securities will be issued at small discounts to give investors better yields.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. formally applied to the Securities & Exchange Commission for registration of the new stock it plans to issue in preparation for a listing on the New York Stock Exchange. The new voting common shares, created through a proposed 10 for one split, are expected to be eligible for trading on Dec. 15.

WORK INCENTIVE

LISBON (UPI) — City workers engaged in demolishing an ancient building learned Wednesday why workman Lourenco Martins concentrated so much time on the same spot. Police charged Martins with stealing $1,400 worth of jewels from a jewelry store next door after digging right through the wall.

Body Of Man Lost In Crash Is Recovered

SHAW (Special) — Officials reported the body of a 31-year-old Cleveland, Miss., oil field worker was recovered from the Mississippi River eight miles south of here yesterday—nine days after a light plane crashed. The pilot escaped and was rescued.

The victim — James DeLoach—died of a broken neck and skull fractures, Concordia Parish Dr. J. H. Pankey ruled, when the body was recovered at 4 p.m.

A construction worker employed at the Old River Junction dam project near the sandbar onto which the body caught, sighted the remains Tuesday night. However, it was not identified as a body until yesterday because of darkness.

Jerry Antus, 22, was piloting the craft that crashed into the Mississippi, Nov. 11 after the engine developed magneto trouble.

Antus said he jumped from the plane just as it crashed and was fished out by a man in a boat nearby.

ENROUTE

The craft was enroute from Baton Rouge to Cleveland when it went down.

Wreckage of the ill-fated plane was recovered the night of the crash, but no trace of DeLoach was found and Concordia Parish authorities surmised he had drowned.

Funeral services for DeLoach were held today at 10 a.m. at Calvary Baptist Church in Cleveland.

Besides his wife he is survived by three children, three brothers, a sister, and his mother and father.

Army Showing Off And Hiding Jupiter Nose Cone

Secretary of the Army Brucker presented the Jupiter C missile nose cone to the Smithsonian Institution Wednesday. The cone is the first known object to have returned to earth after a trip in space.

Museum officials immediately put it on exhibition. Then they found out that a plastic coating covered the cone, which is classified. They had not been told about the cover earlier.

"I guarantee it's under there," Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, deputy chief of Army ordnance, said later.

The Smithsonian decided to change the label, explaining to visitors they could see the shape of the cone but not the cone itself.

Hershey Says Draft Must Be Continued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's draft chief said today the draft must be continued despite sizeable cuts in U.S. military manpower.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said he already has recommended that the administration ask the new Congress for a four-year extension of the military draft law, due to expire next July 1.

"No statistics we've ever had in our history would indicate you can maintain anywhere near two million people in uniform without compulsion," he told United Press International.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy Wednesday cut the Army draft call for January by 19 per cent and ordered the armed forces to carry out scheduled reductions totaling 71,282 men by June.

Those who believe the draft could be abolished may seize on the manpower cuts as ammunition. But Hershey, like Defense Department officials, disagreed.

Hershey said that when the draft act was allowed to expire in 1947, the United States was unable to recruit a force of more than 1,400,000 men and re-enacted the draft the next year as "an incentive in the form of compulsion."

He acknowledged that only the Army has to draft men now to fill its ranks. But he maintained that the other services are able to get volunteers because the men know they will be drafted eventually anyway.

There appears little doubt Congress will extend the draft as requested, though there could be slight modifications in the act. The House Armed Services Committee already is laying the groundwork for public hearings on the subject.

The manpower reductions ordered by McElroy Wednesday will reduce the armed forces a total of 71,282 from their strength of 2,596,282 at the start of this month. This was in line with President Eisenhower's announced intention in his budget message last January.

Farm Bureau Drive Opens In Madison

TALLULAH (Special) — The Madison Parish Farm Bureau membership drive opened here with a speech by Paul Ransom, vice president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau.

Ransom, who is also chairman of the Bureau's cotton committee, emphasized Farm Bureau importance and the need for a politically-active and informed membership.

He referred to Farm Bureau-sponsored legislation on state and federal gas tax savings for farmers, and mentioned reduction of the sales tax on livestock and poultry feed.

Bobby Joe Lee, membership chairman, announced that the quota for parish members is now 200. Proper procedure to obtain new members was outlined by Everett Ziegler, district sales manager.

A report meeting was scheduled in Monroe for Nov. 28, and President J. M. Frazier Jr. appointed Charles Arneson, Maurice Grady, J. A. McDaniel and Lee to attend the session.

Ward chairmen for the membership drive are Rupert Harmon, R. C. Webb, McDanile, Arneson, Van T. Flurry, Frazier, Grady and J. W. Holloway.

Brooks Carries Court Curb Plan To Flood Meeting

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La) carried his plan for a state-level movement to curb the power of the U.S. Supreme Court to today's opening session of the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Assn.

Brooks said yesterday he planned to initiate the move on the state level since efforts on the federal level have failed.

He noted Article V of the Constitution provides that "Congress . . . shall propose amendments to this constitution . . . on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states. . . ."

Brooks said, the justices "have ruled the states can't punish violators of the sedition laws; can't fire school teachers who are avowed Communists; can't fire federal employes who are avowed Communists unless they hold sensitive jobs. There is the school integration ruling . . . they brought on Little Rock and all the turmoil the South has been having."

Instead of a lifetime tenure for justices, Brooks said, he personally favored a limited tenure of "say 14 years like our own Louisiana court."

Bearded Recluse Judged Insane

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)— A district court jury Wednesday night found bearded recluse Norman Atle Foose insane and ordered him held in state prison until he is sane and can stand trial on charges of murdering two children.

The 47-year-old prospector has insisted throughout his imprisonment since the July 10 slayings that he shot the two children "to help depopulate an overcrowded world."

Jackie Jensen Named Most Valuable Player In AL

Bob Turley In 2nd Place With 191 Votes

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Jackie Jensen, whose slugging help the Boston Red Sox to a third place finish, today was named the American League's Most Valuable Player in the 1958 season.

The 31-year-old outfielder ended the New York Yankees' four-year hold on the coveted award by drawing 233 points in the balloting by a 24-member committee of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America.

New York right-hander Bob Turley, the major league's pitcher of the year, was runnerup with 191 points, followed by Cleveland's Rocky Colavito with 181 and Kansas City's Bob Cerv with 164.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, the 1956 and '57 MVP winner, failed to gain a first place vote and wound up fifth with 127 points. Washington's Roy Sievers was next with 95 votes followed by American League batting champion Ted Williams of the Red Sox with 89.

The voting was by three baseball writers in each of the American League cities between the end of the regular season and the start of the World Series. A first place vote was worth 14 points, a second nine points, a third eight and down the line to one for 10th.

Jensen, who lead the league in runs batted in with 122, earned a place on all but one ballot. He received nine first place votes, six seconds, three thirds, two fourths, two fifths and one eighth.

Turley had seven first place votes, but was not named on three ballots. Colavito picked up four firsts while failing to earn a point from two voters.

Cerv, who despite injuries crashed 38 homers, drove in 104 runs and batted .305, was the only player named on all 24 ballots. However, he was placed on top on only three ballots and had only one second.

Chicago's Nellie Fox, who trailed Williams by a single point with 83, was the only other player awarded a first place vote. He was named on 17 ballots.

Jensen tapered off after a tremendous first half in which he hit 24 homers, drove in 68 runs and batted .311 to earn a starting berth in the All Star Game. He wound up with 35 homers and a .236 average.

Told of his award at his home in Lake Tahoe, Nev., Jensen said: "Oh, that's wonderful. This thrills me to death. You have no idea how happy this makes me. The MVP is the ultimate to all ball players."

Jensen is the first member of a non-pennant winner to be voted the American League MVP honors since New York's Yogi Berra in 1954. Berra also won the award the following year before Mantle captured it in '56 and '57.

Jensen has won many honors during his amateur and professional athletic career. A standout football back at the University of California in 1948, he played in the Rose Bowl and participated in a World Series with the Yankees.

After one season of minor league ball with Oakland in the Pacific Coast League, Jackie moved up to the Yankees in 1950. He divided the next season between New York and the Kansas City farm in the American Assn., before being traded to Washington in 1952.

Traded to Boston after the 1953 campaign, he has been a standout for the Red Sox and one of baseball's top run producers. In five seasons with the Red Sox, he has driven in 555 runs.

Turley received strong support in the MVP balloting because of his fine 21-7 record and 2.98 earned run average during the regular season. His efforts in the World Series in which he appeared in the last three games, winning two games and saving the other, did not figure in the voting.

Colavito, a strong-armed right-fielder like Jensen, blossomed into an outstanding slugger during the 1958 season. He hit 41 homers, one less than Mantle's league-leading total, and topped the circuit in slugging with a .620 percentage. He hit .303.

Cerv and Mantle were tied for the runnerup spot in slugging with .592 marks. Jensen was sixth with .535.

Mantle had a good year for most players — but not for him. He wound up with 42 homers, 97 runs batted in and a .304 average.

Sievers, playing with a last place ball club, belted 39 homers, had 108 RBI's and hit .295 for the Senators. He earned spots on 21 ballots, the same as Mantle.

Williams, who won his sixth batting title with a .328 mark at the age of 40, received votes from 18 of the participating writers but was not rated highly. He had three seconds, five fifths, two sixths, three sevenths, two eighths, one ninth and one 10th.

In the 1957 voting, Williams was edged by Mantle after hitting a mighty .388. The balloting was marred by a couple of votes which placed Williams ninth and 10th. Mantle won with 233 votes to 209.

Rounding out the top 10 in this year's voting were Sherm Lollar, Chicago White Sox catcher with 57 votes, and Boston second baseman Pete Runnels with 29. Runnels battled teammate Williams down to the wire before losing the batting crown by six points.

"This was the best year I've had," Jensen said. "I felt half way through the season I was going to have a big year because I hadn't had a slump. Of course, I ran into one late in the year.

"While this was my best year, I had hoped for a better one. But winning this (the MVP award) makes it as big as you can have."

Jensen said that at the midway mark of the season he set a couple of personal goals for himself — the RBI title and the MVP award.

"I thought I saw a chance to be the MVP for the first time in my life," he said. "When you see you have a chance for those you bear down harder and maybe I did give it a little more."

Jensen is only the third Boston player to win the MVP award, Jimmy Foxx won it in 1938, and Williams in 1946 and '49.

WATER WHEELS — This Italian cyclist needs a dike, not a bike. Flood waters made it heavy going as he salvaged his machine after the Po River, whipped by winds and swollen by heavy rains, inundated the delta area near the town of Goro. Many of the residents were forced to flee their homes when crumbling dikes along the Adriatic coast gave way, adding to the floods already covering the lowlands. (AP Wirephoto).

GRID ROUNDUP

Saturday Is End For Many Stars

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

This Saturday is swan-song day for a lot of good football talent around the nation's college campuses and you can look for all-out efforts on the part of all concerned to leave the partisans — and some bowl scouts—with a favorable last impression.

Most of these stalwarts will be playing in post-season all star or major bowl games but this is their last partisan fling.

Rutgers bidh good-bye to halfback Billy Austin, considered its greatest all-around back and one of the best ever to play in the East. His finale may be made by an injured right hand that won't be OK for play until tomorrow.

Princeton tailback Dan Sachs plays his last game for Princeton when it opposes Dartmouth for the Ivy League title. Sachs has been injured part of the season but has been given a tentative go-ahead for Saturday.

There'll be plenty at stake at Chapel Hill, N.C., and Morgantown, W.Va. At Chapel Hill, North Carolina entertains arch-rival Duke and the Tar Heels are still bowl-hoping. Senior quarterback Jack Cummings will have a lot to say. He went through a long passing drill yesterday in preparation for the Blue Devils.

Duke, which will try to keep Cummings from setting a host of Atlantic Coast Conference and school records, has Wray Carlton, its backfield ace of the past two season, as the only healthy starting back.

At Morgantown, two quarterbacks play their final regular games. West Virginia's Dick Longfellow, the Southern Conference offense leader, tries to pitch his team to its fifth victory in 10 games. His opposite, Syracuse's Chuck Zimmerman, will try to guide the Orange to a seventh straight victory, ninth in 10 games. And an Orange Bowl bid.

Maryland guard Rod Breedlove, a Lineman of hte Week nominee, will bow out against Virginia. The Terps spent their final hard practice session prepping for an expected onslaught of passing from Cavalier quarterback Reece Whitley.

Iowa quarterback Randy Duncan, who will be seen again in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day, plays his final game before the home folks when the Big Ten champs take on Notre Dame. Capt. John Nocera, another senior, will be at fullback in place of Don Horn.

Don Clark plays his final game for Ohio State when the Bucks meet Michigan. Buckeye quarterback Frank Kremblas, also a senior, is a doubtful participant and will be replaced by soph Jerry Fields, who guided the team to a 38-28 win over Iowa last week.

On the West Coast, senior Joe Kapp, California's quarterback hopes to guide the Bears to the Rose Bowl against Stanford. Up the coast, Bobby Newman, Washington State's passing ace could do the same if he pitches WSC to a victory over Washington, and Cal loses.

The Pacific Coast Conference bowl rep would be decided by a vote and in case of a tie the last to go to the big affair gets the nod. Washington State went way back in 1931, the longest of any PCC eligibles.

Sooners Lead NCAA Teams In Defense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beating an Oklahoma football team has been a tough assignment for more than a decade. Now It's getting to be an achievement just to score against the Sooners.

Always tops offensively, Oklahoma now is the major college leader in defense against scoring. The Sooners have permitted only 42 points in 8 games for 5.3 average.

The Sooners won the national major college scoring championship in 1952, 1955 and 1956, but have never been champs in protecting their own end zone.

Army has given up 43 points in 8 games; Auburn, last year's scoring defense leader, and Syracuse 47 each.

Auburn continues to lead in total defense and rushing defense. Over-all the Tigers have yielded only 143.6 yards per game. Their rushing defense average is 69.1.

Iowa State continues to lead in pass defense with 36.4 yards per game, while Brown is second.

IN TECH TILT

3 Top Seniors To Lead Indians

Three Northeast seniors who gained honorable mention in the Gulf States Conference weekly honors will be relied on heavily this week to wrap up a successful season for the Indians in their home final.

All-American candidate Joe Driskill of Arcadia, right end, was singled out for his fine defensive play in the Louisiana College game. Driskill gave the Indians a chance to score in the third period when he blocked a Wildcat punt on their own 16. The Warriors drove to the four but were unable to punch over for the tally.

Fullback Lloyd Ray Smith of Bastrop spraked an 81-yard drive last week that ended in the Indians' first score. Big Bob McGough, Bastrop teammate, also figured prominently in piling up that 229 yards rushing by Northeast.

Nine seniors, including these three, will be playing their final game for the Maroon and Gold when the Indians meet Louisiana Tech here Saturday night at Brown Stadium. Others are: Everett Reynolds, quarterback, Lewisville, Tex.; Keith Amos, halfback, Rayville; Sidney Anderson, center, Eastbutchie, Miss.; James Brent, tackle, Greenville, Miss.; Jim Knox, left end, Crowville, and Roy Cagle, tackle, Delhi.

Only a few tickets are left for this important game which is figuring heavily in the GSC title. The winner of the Northeast-Tech game will be assured of at least sharing the championship, and if Southeastern beats Northwestern, the victor at Monroe will be the titleholder.

Webb Scores TKO In 7th Over Giardello

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Spider Webb's slashing, bloody victory over Joey Giardello brought clamor today for a shot at the middleweight title from two corners.

Fullmer, ranked No. 2 behind Carmen Basilio beat the fourth-ranked Webb in September. Giardello was No. 3.

Most observers feel both Fullmer and Webb will have to wait until after Robinson and Basilio tangle a third time.

Whatever happens, Webb keeps busy. The college-educated Chicagoan collected about $13,000, including $4,000 television fees — a nice present on his 27th birthday today. Webb goes to London for his next fight, Dec. 9, against British champion Terry Downs.

After that:

"I feel I should get a crack at the title."

Webb, 158¾, opened a cut under Giardello's left eye in the fourth as he moved ahead on points. In the sixth, he cut Joey badly above the same eye and the 159-pound veteran from Rosedale, N.Y., was smeared with his own blood.

But Giardello lashed back and scored solidly with rights to Webb's jaw. Bybee stopped the action twice to look at the eye and a California Athletic Commission doctor entered the ring once to inspect it.

Bybee called a halt after 1:30 in the seventh with both fighters covered with blood. Webb's white shorts were dyed pink from Giardello's blood.

Giardello, stopped for the first time since 1951, said the cut, which took three stitches to close, was caused by a butt. Bybee said if there was a butt, he didn't see it.

"You can't always win the big ones," Joey said. As solace, he collected about $15,000

Webb said he made one mistake—concentrating on that bleeding eye. "I should have kept on boxing," he declared. "That's why I got hit so much near the end."

Did the blood bother him? "Not at all," he answered. "It wasn't mine."

Rayville To Host Lake Providence

RAYVILLE, La. (Special) — Rayville's Hornets play host to Lake Providence here tonight at 7:30 in a rescheduled affair.

Rayville, led by backs Paul Hunter and Stewart Dyer, sports a record of six wins and four losses for the season. Hunter has chalked up 98 points for the season to lead all scorers in the 2-A district. Dyer has 42.

The Hornets rolled over Mangham last week 34-13, while Lake Providence was stopping Oak Grove 21-7.

Purvis Thomas and Walter Parker will be expected to carry the offensive load for Lake Providence. Purvis has a total of 38 counters for the season, while Parker has contributed 30.

Twin Bill Split By Sterlington

STERLINGTON, La. (Special)—Sterlington and Farmerville split a basketball doubleheader here yesterday, as the nost girls won, 46-17, and Farmerville took the boys' tilt 37-19.

Earline Bates' 12 points was high for the Sterlington girls and Judy Armor and Betsy Pace topped Farmerville with 6 apiece.

Johnny Porter hooped 8 to lead in the boys victory while Patterson led the hosts with 11.

IN 2 MILE RUN

Eiland, Williams Set New Record

Buddy Eiland and Jack Williams shattered the existing Gulf States Conference record for the two-mile run as they led the Northeast Indians to a surprisingly easy victory over McNeese, 21-34.

The win was the seventh in a row for Northeast after dropping the opening race of the season, and was the eighth personal triumph for the speedy Eiland.

The ace Indian runner again received his closest competition from teammate Williams who finished a close second two yards back. Eiland ran the two-mile track event in 9:34.9, compared to the present GSC record of 9:51.1. Williams closed at 9:35.5.

McNeese's Lynn Chisholm, current holder of the GSC mile-run record, made a strong bid at the mile and a half mark but had to drop off the pace. He finished in 9:49 for his personal best, 2.1 seconds below the record.

The biggest surprise of the day for Coach Lew Hartzog's cindermen was the fine showing by Buddy McCullen, Bill Frye and Bob Jaenicke. All three boys finished in their fastest time ever, finishing fourth, sixth and eighth.

In a 440-yard exhibition race, the Indian relay team, which holds the relay record of 42 seconds flat, turned in a mark of 42.4 seconds without competition. The squad is composed of Dave Styron, Jerry Ivy, Don Reynolds, and Don Styron.

Record of finish:

1. Eiland, Northeast, 9:34.9
2. Williams, Northeast, 9:35.5
3. Chisholm, McNeese, 9:49
4. McCullen, Northeast, 9:54
5. Liste, McNeese, 10:03
6. Frye, Northeast, 10:09
7. Krowski, McNeese, 10:13
8. Jaenicke, Northeast, 10:10
9. Frater, McNeese, 10-30
10. Peters, McNeese, 10:40

Jensen Pleased With Winning Of MVP Award

CRYSTAL BAY, Nev. (AP) — "This," said Jackie Jensen of his Most Valuable Player award, "is the biggest thrill I've ever had out of any athletic contest.

"When a fellow becomes a pro baseball player, it seems so far out of reach, yet he hopes to attain it," he added. The 31-year-old Boston Red Sox outfielder jumped from All-America gridiron star at the University of California to Oakland of the Class AAA Pacific Coast League 10 years ago.

"I tried my darnedest."

Except for Jackie's proud glow, it looked like just another evening at the Jensen home on beautiful Lake Tahoe. Jack wasn't supposed to get the news until today, but Eastern sports writers began telephoning him last night to get his reaction.

Jack's beautiful wife, former Olympic swim star Zoe Ann Olson Jensen, was urging 5 year old son Jon "Please finish your dinner."

There was no celebrating. Neither Jon or 8 year old daughter Jan grasped significance of the highest award that can be voted to an American League baseball player by the baseball writers.

Zoe Ann knew, but all she said was "I am so happy for you."

However, that and the proud gleam in her eyes, meant a great deal more than a pretty phrase to Jackie. He knew Zoe Ann really appreciated that he had reached the heights—a peak she just missed herself.

Jack said he'd hoped for, but not really expected, to win the MVP nod.

He expected the baseball writers to pick Bob Turley, the New York Yankees' World Series pitching star. He didn't realize the award is voted for the season's play, excluding the Series.

He had steeled himself: "It would be wonderful if I got it, but I'll not be disappointed if I don't."

"I had such a good star I felt I could be considered," he related, "I hoped to end the season as well as I started it. I didn't, but I still did pretty good.

"Possibly I tried too hard when I slumped in September. I don't want to make it sound big, but I had a bad skin rash and the doctor said to do nothing that would make me perspire! How can you play ball and not perspire?

"He relented and said, then do a minimum warmup. So I got a little out of shape. I added 5 or 6 pounds. I'm not making excuses, but I think it all affected my play."

IN MEXICO CITY

Wave Of Sickness Hits Pro Golfers

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The international golf championship and Canada Cup matches got under way today, but there was an upset before they started. Upset stomachs, that is.

Almost a dozen of the 64 players from 32 countries who teed off today in the world championship of golf suffered varying degrees of "turista"—upset stomachs—on the eve of the tournament.

Pills relieved the majority of those affected and tanks of oxygen at the ninth and 18th holes today will take care of others who have complained of the mile-and-a-half high altitude.

The brightest field yet for the International and Canada Cup matches went into action early this morning on the tough but beautiful 7,216-yard, par 72 Club de Golf Mexico course.

The two-man team with the lowest combined score will win the Canada Cup. Individual low scorer wins the International Championship.

For a while yesterday it was feared the field might be cut by illness. Several players reported for practice with upset stomach

They included John Panton of Scotland, Dave Thomas of Wales, Frank Phillips of Australia, Al Balding and Henry Martell of Canada, Bernard Hunt of England and Flory Van Donck of Belgium.

None was seriously ill, although Thomas left the course after playing five hole of listless golf. Panton also quit after a few holes.

Upset stomachs, known as "turista" because tourists are most susceptible to it, are not normally attributed to bad food here. Instead it's blamed on the change in water, diet, and overeating at night at this altitude, which slows down the digestive processes.

Many of the players, however, blamed a lobster dish they ate at a banquet the night before. Those who passed up the dish did not become ill.

"Pete" Nakamura of Japan and teammate Koichi Ono, upset victors last year, over Snead and Jimmy Demaret, are on hand to defend their title. Both shot excellent rounds before today's tee-offs, but with typical Oriental modesty have not predicted they would win again.

Thomas and teammate Dai Rees are among the tops, along with Gary Player of South Africa, Peter Allis Jr. of England, Van Donck, Loepoldo Ruiz of Argentina, Kel Nagle of Australia, and Christy O'Connor of Ireland.

First to tee off today at 10:30 a.m. EST were Friedrich Becker and Georg Bessler of Germany against Frank Buckler and Ernie Southerden of New Zealand.

Playing as foursomes, other teams took off every ten minutes. Last was Hogan and Snead at 1 p.m. against Argentina's Fidel de Luca and Ruiz.

AF Hushed Up On Sugar Bowl Racial Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force declined Wednesday to say whether its undefeated academy football team would play in a post-season bowl game where spectators are racially segregated.

Officials of the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans have rated the Air Force among leading candidates for their New Year's Day game. Louisiana law requires segregated seating, however, and the Air Force withdrew from a game previously scheduled with Tulane for this season at New Orleans.

A spokesman at the Pentagon said the question of playing in the Sugar Bowl was hypothetical because no invitation has been received. For that reason, he said, there would be no statement at this time.

Academy authorities also declined to comment.

Cadet - Middie Scrap Is Again Sellout Affair

Capt. Slade Cutter, director of athletics for the Naval Academy, said Wednesday that the 98,593 tickets available were oversubscribed and some applications had to be cut.

Navy is host team this year for the game to be played Nov. 29 in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

Ticket applications closed Oct. 14, and the ticket mailing process is now underway.

ALL-STATE TEAMS

"All" teams of any kind are always suspect and all-state high school teams especially so. It doesn't take much effort for a person in Washington state, for example, to find out what kind of football player Billy Cannon is. All he needs to do is read his newspaper. College football is played in a goldfish bowl with dozens of sports writers there to report what happens, statisticians to record every yard gained and cameras to preserve every play on film.

High school football games, however, especially in the lower classes, are not subjected to such a barrage of publicity and many a fine football player has bloomed unheralded and unrewarded, doomed not by lack of talent but lack of recognition.

All-state teams are never perfect and never will be. However, they are the best the press can do toward rewarding deserving players. All-state recognition is a great honor and should not be bestowed haphazardly.

The Associated Press has selected the only Louisiana all-state teams for the past several years. The teams have been selected at a meeting of sports writers from the wire service's member newspapers. The all-state meeting has always been held on the weekend of the final state triple-A playoff.

This season, however, the meeting will be held this coming weekend in New Orleans, about a month earlier than usual. The all-state teams will be released before the all-district teams are picked and will evidently be selected by sports writers from New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Shreveport.

This newspaper received a letter from the Associated Press last week announcing the all-state meeting, the first official word we had received of the early meeting date. Enclosed in the letter were four ballots for our all-state nominations with the final selections to be made at the meeting. We were to send in our all-state nominations "AT ONCE!" At the time we received the letter, we had received two all-district ballots from coaches in this area and that's not much to go on in picking all-state teams. As wise as we sometimes foolishly believe we are, we hardly feel qualified to nominate boys we have never seen without help from the coaches.

Since receiving the Associated Press' letter, we've talked to sports writers in Shreveport, Baton Rouge, Alexandria and Lake Charles. All were against the early meeting and most informed the AP of their objections and so did we. The Lake Charles and Alexandria scribes said they wouldn't be able to attend the meeting.

As matters stand now, this newspaper probably won't be represented at the meeting either for a number of reasons, Paul Martin's illness and the Tech-Northeast game the main ones. The meeting could hardly have been scheduled at a more unopportune time with several important Gulf State Conference games on tap and high school basketball enjoying its first big weekend with several tournaments slated.

We're not complaining because we might be unable to attend the meeting. No matter when it's held, somebody will be unable to attend for one reason or another. We're complaining because the Associated Press set the early meeting without prior warnings because they've stuck to it in spite of protests from at least four member newspapers and because they seem more interested in putting out a list of names as soon as possible instead of producing a conscientiously-selected all-state team.

PREDICTIONS

The season has lasted a little bit too long.

Last week our percentage was a healthy .769. This week we stagger into the breech at .755, victims of six upsets in 14 tries last weekend.

SPRINGHILL at WEST MONROE — The season has also lasted too long for West Monroe, reeling after three consecutive defeats. Springhill, 4-4-1, is no world-beater and the Rebels should slip over the .500 mark for the season with a one-point win.

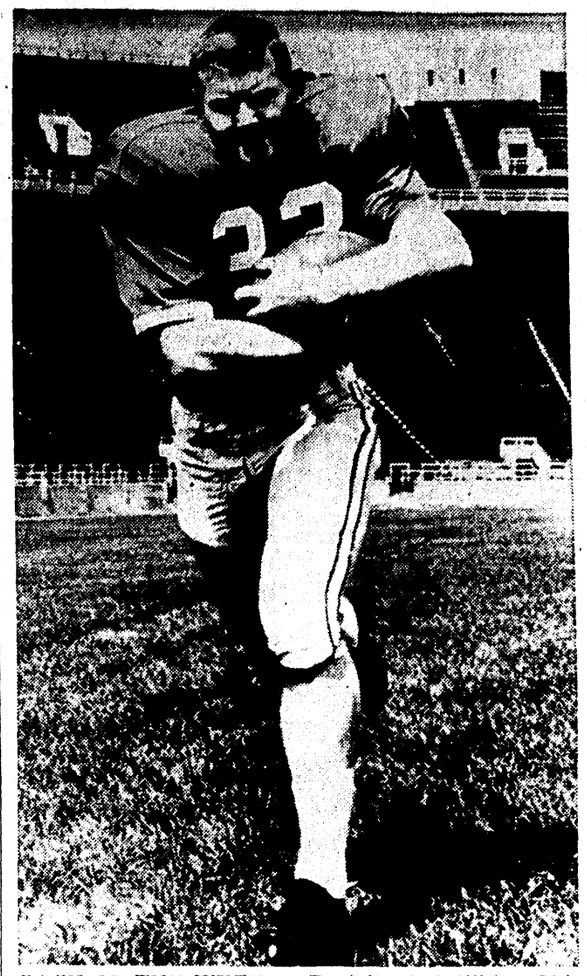
COUSHATTA at TALLULAH — It's a shame these two fine teams have to meet in a bi-district playoff. They're probably the two best class A teams in the state and this battle would be better staged in the state finals. Tallulah takes a big step toward another state crown with a 6-point win.

FLORIDA TRAINING SCHOOL at SOUTHSIDE — A Thursday game, the finale for the well-traveled Pelicans. Southside wins by 7 and takes another Southern Conference of Training School's championships.

BOSSIER at BASTROP — Bastrop gets its last chance for a 1-AAA win but Bossier, still in the running for the title, isn't likely to oblige. Bossier by 20.

BERNICE vs. PLAIN DEALING at Haynesville — The playoff for the 1-B title. Bernice won a 7-6 verdict in September but this is November and Plain Dealing is a 7-point choice.

LAKE PROVIDENCE at RAYVILLE — A Thursday game originally scheduled for Sept. 20. Rayville should win by 13.



BACK OF THE WEEK — Bruising Bob White, Ohio State's 210-pound fullback was named Back of the Week yesterday. White, a 20-year-old junior from Covington, Ky., amassed 209 yards in 33 carries and scored three touchdowns in OSU's 38-28 triumph over Iowa last Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

Duncan, White Lead Midwest For Honors

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — With the end of the football season just around the corner, the Midwest has two standout All-America candidates—quarterback Randy Duncan of Big Ten champion Iowa and fullback Bob White of dethroned Ohio State.

Duncan, perhaps, has less competition than White since this area offers two other fine fullbacks, Bob Jarus of Purdue and Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame.

However, the midwest AP selection board took sharp notice of White's one-man gang performance as Ohio State upset Iowa 38-28 in a real touchdown rodeo last Saturday. That won White the AP's Back of the Week recognition.

White carried 33 times against Iowa for 209 yards. For the season, the Buckeye line-buster has churned 781 yards on 194 carries for a 4.0 average and 11 touchdowns. "White has caused every opposing coach constant worry," commented Bill Fox of the Indianapolis News.

Duncan hit on 23 of 33 passes against Ohio State for a new Big Ten record. Earl Flora of the Ohio State Journal describes Duncan as a "fine runner, the best passer in the Big Ten and an inspiring leader."

Strong board support continued for Ohio State end Jim Houston. Johnny O'Donnell of the Davenport, Iowa, Democrat, observed that against Iowa Houston was "brutal on both offense and defense, a crusher all the way, using his 6 feet 2 and 211 pounds with authority."

Purdue's fine defensive club also has top line candidates in tackle Gene Selawski and soph guard, Ron Maltony. Sid Hartman of the Minneapolis-Tribune said Selawski is "the big reason" for the bristling Boilermaker defense.

Southside Hosts Florida For Title

Southside High School closes out its 1958 football season against Florida Industrial School in a Southern Conference of Training Schools encounter here tonight.

The contest, as in the past, will determine the champion of the league. If Southside wins, the Monroe eleven will be the conference champion and will retain permanent possession of the loop trophy. Three seasons in a row as champions are required to keep the award.

After losing twe straight home games by sizeable margins the Pelicans should be keyed up for the Florida invasion. In recent years the Marianna aggregation has proved to be the toughest conference foe for Southside.

More hard practice sessions have marked the Pel scrimmages this week, according to Head Coach Fred Lindsay. Holly Ridge rolled over Southside last week to cop the district 2-B crown.

Farrell Will Pilot Bison Club In 1959

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Kerby Farrell, former baseball manager for the Cleveland Indians, was named Wednesday to manage the International League's Buffalo Bisons next season.

Farrell, currently in Venezuela where he is managing the Oriente club in the winter league, replaces Phil Cavarretta. The Bisons finished in the cellar last season.

Farrell, 45, started as a manager in Erie, Pa., in 1941 in the Class C Middle Atlantic League. He finished sixth with Cleveland in 1957, and last year managed the Miami Marlins of the International League.

Farrell, a native of Leapwood, Tenn., began his playing career as a first baseman in 1932. He spent two seasons as a player in the majors, 1943 with the Boston Braves and 1945 with the Chicago White Sox.

In 13 seasons as a minor league manager, he finished in the first division 10 times and won four pennants. He was named minor league manager of the year twice, after winning pennants with Indianapolis of the American Assn. in 1954 and 1956.

Injuries Fatal To Lightweight Boxer Simon

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Nate Simon, 25, Los Angeles lightweight, died at a hospital here Wednesday of injuries received in a scheduled 10-round match with Danny Davis of Minneapolis Tuesday night.

Simon became groggy after being hit with a short left hook alongside the head about 10 seconds before the round ended. He collapsed after going to his corner.

LSU Coaches Use Movies To Grade Players

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — "That guard was offside, give him a zero."

The voices came from deep inside Louisiana State's huge stadium. It was empty on Sunday afternoon, but only hours ago a roaring capacity crowd had watched another victory by the top team in the nation.

Coach Paul Dietzel and his staff —with the help of the unfailing eye of the movie camera—were busily bringing the high flying Tigers to earth.

Each play is rerun five, six, a dozen times if necessary until every player is graded It takes more than four hours to do the job, but the coaches know precisely what happened on each play.

A player who blocks the wrong man, misses a block or tackle or busts a signal can't alibi next day when the team sees the movies. The coaches have a picture of it, projected almost big as life.

"A lot of people think I'm kidding when they ask me after a game how I think the team looked and I say, 'I don't know, I haven't seen the moves'," Dietzel says. "But that's right. I can't tell how good or bad they've done just looking from the bench."

In the grading sessions, the 34-year-old former Army assistant keeps the master sheet, marking down the play number, how many yards gained and other facts.

His assistants, Charles McClendon, George Terry, Carl Maddox, Larry Jones, Abner Wimberly and Bill Peterson each grade one group of players, ends, tackles and so forth.

The system is that of Sid Gillman, coach of the Los Angeles Rams, who was Dietzel's coach at Miami, Ohio, and his boss later at Cincinnati.

One point is given for technique, how the boy blocks, tackles or goes about his assignment. He gets two points more if he blocks out the man, tackles the ball carrier or does what he is supposed to do.

Bonus points are given for extra effort. If a player is in for 10 plays, he has a potential of 30 points. If he scores 20, he is operating at 67 per cent capacity.

Several individual players have scored 90 per cent or better. Senior end Billy Hendrix hit 93 per cent in the 50-18 rout of Duke. In the same game, the first team backfield scored 81 per cent.

The Louisiana Prep Grid Standard is a mathematical system which rates football teams on their past performances, taking into consideration the average margin of victory or defeat and the comparative strength of opposition. For instance a team rated 90.0 would be considered 10 points per game stronger than an 80.0 team.

PREP FOOTBALL

Bi-District Playoffs Set To Begin This Weekend

Bi-district playoff tests beckon the Reserve Wildcats, Tallulah Trojans and Erath Bobcats this weekened, while Istrouma's Indians still have the task of wrapping up the District 3-AAA championship.

These four teams find themselves top-ranked in their respective classes, according to Lee Meade's Louisiana Prep Grid Standard, a mathematical system which rates and ranks all of the state's 200 high school football teams.

Reserve sealed down its hold on the Class AA lead by belting Lutcher, 52-0, Sunday in its final regular season game. That boosted the Wildcats to a lofty 104.46 rating, highest ever held by a Double-A team.

Tallulah's Class A rating of 92.76 remained unchanged when the Trojans went out of state to whip Canton, Miss., 32-7, in their last regular scheduled consest. Only games between Louisiana prep teams are considered by the system.

Erath, which finished an undefeated but once-tied season two weeks ago, stayed on top in Class B with an 83.30 rating.

Istrouma's 14-12 scare against Baton Rouge high cost the Indians a couple of points, but Coach James (Fuzzy) Brown's Tribe still maintained its No. 1 spot in Class AAA at 112.98.

The only change in the Triple-A Top Ten was between Lake Charles and Baton Rouge. Lake Charles climbed ahead of the Bulldogs into fourth place after walloping Sulphur, 40-0.

Runner - up Warren Easton gained prestige with its 40-12 victory over East Jefferson and third-place Jesuit fell from the undefeated and untied ranks in a 27-7 loss at Pensacola, Fla.

The second five are Holy Cross, Terrebonne, Lafayette, Bolton and St. Aloysius.

Minden, Morgan City and Thibodaux held their 2-3-4 positions in Double-A with open dates last week, but Ruston jumped into fifth place on its decisive 26-0 victory over West Monroe.

Rounding out the First Ten in order are Ponchatoula, Neville Jonesboro, Homer and Leesville.

The Class A ranks are being tightly contested with Gonzales and Coushatta, both undefeated and untied, pressing Tallulah for the lead. There is less than half a point separating the three teams.

Ironically, the next three places are filled by teams which finished the district races in runner-up positions. Fourth-ranked Delhi was second to Tallulah in 2-A, fifth-ranked Denham Springs was second to Slidell in 8-A and sixth-ranked Mansfield was second behind Coushatta in 1-A.

Players Consider Drastic Measures Against Owners

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The major league baseball players are considering the possibility of taking "drastic action" should the owners reject their demand to be cut in on the regular season television and radio money of the 16 clubs.

League representatives Robin Roberts and Eddie Yost have been authorized by the other 14 team representatives to ask the owners at their Washington, D.C. meeting next month for a quick reply to their demand of 25 per cent of the TV and radio money.

"We feel we are entitled to a portion of the money the clubs have been getting from the telecasting of our regular league games," a player representative told The Associated Press Wednesday. "We thrashed the matter over thoroughly at our last meeting and we even discussed the possibility of taking drastic action should the owners turn us down."

The player, who asked not to be identified, declined to say what these "drastic actions" would be. He insisted, however, the players meant business and declared the representatives would meet Dec. 1 in Washington to decide on a course of action should they be rebuffed by the owners.

"We don't want to draw any conclusions until we know the owners' reaction," he said. "But it wouldn't be any sense in asking for something if we didn't plan to do anything about it. We'd look ridiculous then."

The players in October requested a cut of the TV and radio receipts of regular season games but because of the excitement of the World Series little publicity was given to it.

Roberts, contacted by telephone, said he anticipated no difficulty with the owners and was confident something would be worked out. He added, however, that no decision has been reached as to what steps will be taken in case of rejection.

"The clubowners' gross income, because of television, has gone up tremendously during the past several years," said the Philadephia Phillies' star pitcher. "Baseball salaries have gone up, too, during this time, but not nearly in ratio with the clubs' earnings. Baseball salaries have fared poorly in proportion to salary increases in other professions, too.

"If there is that much money available as we have reason to believe, then certainly some of it should be distributed among the players. Television is becoming more and more important. Who knows how big it will get. I don't believe the players have benefited as much as they should have from it. It's time we were."

Trojans To Defend State Crown Friday

TALLULAH, La. (Special)—The defending State Champion Tallulah High School Trojans ended their regular season with a 10 won and 1 loss record and began Monday afernoon preparing for the defense of their state crown against the undefeated Coushatta "Choctaws" here on Legion field at 8 p. m. Friday night.

Although bruised somewhat, the Trojans showed plenty of zip in their workouts and, baring last minute injuries, they will be in fairly good shape for the contest. Leonard Wall, little 130 pound scat back, and Sterling Guyton, 175 pound Trojan all-position man, are ailing with brusied ankles but both are expected to see some action against the Choctaws.

The Choctaws with Raymond Eddy, Northeast Louisiana leading scorer with 20 td's and 16 extra points for a 136 point total, and his running mate Donny Kelly with 17 td's and 4 extra points for a total of 106 points, will more than be a match for the Trojans' Danny Neumann, two time All-State at fullback. Neummann had 16 Td's and his running mate Wayne Noland with 12 td's and 4 extra points.

All four backs are highly polished backs and can run with the best in the state and when they meet here Friday night, the game is being billed as tops in Northeast Louisiana.

Both lines are evenly matched in weight. The Torjans forward wall will average 174 and the Choctaws 172, while the Choctaws backfield will out weigh the Trojans 172 to 157. The big question arises, will the Trojans lineman be able to stand up under the pounding of 4 good hard running backs, or on the other side will the Choctaws line be able to withstand the hard driving of Wayne Noland and Danny Neumann and the ball handling of Gerald Collins. All those questions will be answered Friday night.

With weather premiting, one of the largest crowd to ever see a football game here will be on hand for this Bi-District playoff.

Don Floyd Of TCU Wins AP Line Honors

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Big Don Floyd, who plays such perfect football spearheading the mighty Texas Christian line that he has had only one small penalty called against him, was "tickled to death" today at being named lineman of the week by The Associated Press.

His coach, Abe Martin, rejoiced too. "We're real proud of Donnie," Martin said. "He certainly is deserving of the award. He's done a grand job for us all Fall."

It was the work of the 215-pound tackle in the game with Texas last week that earned him the honor. Martin said "this game was probably the finest of any of the TCU linemen this year. He made several of the best moves I ever had a lineman make for me at TCU."

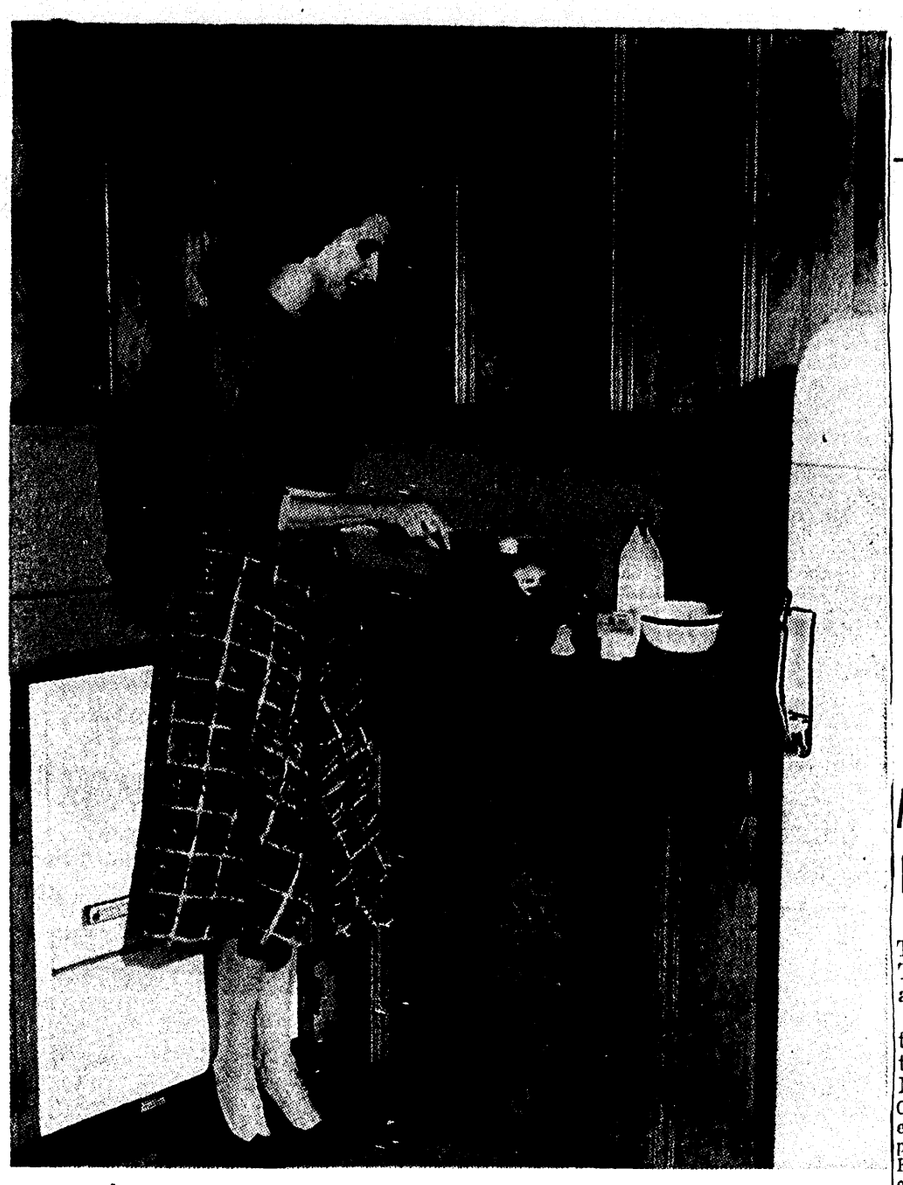
By, For and about WOMEN



PREPARING a sauce for a casserole is Mrs. Randolph Brown. She and Mr. Brown are enjoying their new home on Pargoud Boulevard. Mrs. Brown loves to cook and especially so in her pine panelled kitchen.

MRS. PATRICIA WATTLEY and son, Geoffrey, and daughters, Lyn and Cathy. Mrs. Wattley will participate in the opera 'Amahl and the Night Visitors' at Neville High School next Tuesday evening.

MRS. ELIZABETH MARTIN preparing for the Twin City Symphony's first concert next Tuesday evening at Neville High School Auditorium.

Monroe Residents To Participate In First Concert Of Season Tuesday

Two Monroe residents who will participate in the Twin City Symphony's first concert of the season next Tuesday evening at Neville High School Auditorium are Mrs. Kedwick Martin and Mrs. James Wattley.

Brought to Monroe as the first of four concerts in the 1958-59 season will be the opera 'Amahl and the Night Visitors' by Gian-Carlo Menotti. Dr. Harry Lemert, musical director of the Symphony orchestra and Dean of the Fine Arts Department at Northeast Louisiana State College, will conduct the orchestra.

The orchestra, composed of musicians from El Dorado, Arkansas, Monroe, West Monroe and Shreveport, will accompany the singing of the opera.

Mrs. Martin will be the principal cellist in the orchestra and Mrs. James Wattley will perform "The Shepherd's Dance" with Miss Glenda Sue Young and Curtis Rape.

Elizabeth Martin cannot remember not playing, for when she was four years old her sister's violin teacher made a "cello" for her by fitting an end pin into a viola. By the time she was nine years of age she was playing standard symphony orchestra works with the Portland, Oregon, Junior Symphony Orchestra.

She is a graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music where she received a Bachelor of Music degree and was elected to the music honorary society Pi Kappa Lambda. She held the fellowship at the Juilliard Graduate School. Mrs. Martin played under the conductor, Leopold Stokowski in his New York City Symphony Orchestra. She performed in the Seattle Symphony Orchestra, the Chicago Grant Park Symphony, the Chicago Civic Orchestra and the Fort Wayne Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Hans Schwieger.

Among conductors, regular and otherwise whom she has played under are Hans Lange, Paul Breisach, Eric Klieber, Thor Johnson, William Van Hoogstraten, Eric Leinsdorf, Hans Schwieger, Igor Buketoff, Serge Kousevitsky, Albert Stoessel, Nadia Boulanger, Georges Enseco, Stokowski, George Szell, Herman Felber, Nicoli Makko, Izler Solomon and Edgar Schenkmann.

Mrs. Martin has performed the cello concertos by Saint-Saens, Dvorak and has been co-soloist in the Brahms Double Concerto with symphony orchestra and has played numerous solo recitals. The opportunity of playing in the Twin Cities Symphony and of playing chamber music with the Northeast State faculty pianist, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope and the violinist, Eloy Fominaya, greatly enhanced the prospects of living in Monroe for Mrs. Martin. She is by no means a "long-hair" musician. At one time, Mrs. Martin was the women's Ping-pong champion of Portland, Oregon. She shares her husband's hobby of flying and has taken formal flying lessons.

Mr. Kedwick Martin is the Engineering Services Manager, Forest Products Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation. Mr. and Mrs. Martin have three children, Susan, age 8, Anne, age 5, and Glenn, age 2. At present they reside at 406 Edgemont Drive in West Monroe.

The opera will feature a short ballet section, "The Shepherd's Dance" and be performed by Mrs. Patricia Wattley, Miss Glenda Sue Young and Curtis Rape.

Mrs. Wattley, who has had extensive training and experience in classical ballet, directs the choreography for the dance. Her professional name is "Trisha Linova." She was born in Windhoek, South West Africa, and went to England with her parents at the age of three. She has travelled in France, Spain and England for some years. Mrs. Wattley began her ballet training at the age of six and took all five grade exams with honors. Anton Dolin sent her as his protegee to the Cone School in London where she took and passed all the teachers' exams of the Royal Academy of Dancing. Mrs. Wattley also attended the Royal College of Music for piano. Her professional career started at 13 and her first job was as Covent Garden in the opera "Aida." This was followed by work in the Open Air Theater in Regents Park in Shakespearean plays.

Lydia Kyasht of the Old Bolshoi Theater began a company for young dancers called "The Ballet de la Jeunesse Anglaise." This company gave a grounding of work never to be forgotten as classics, old and new, were constantly studied and learned. She danced her first leading role in one of the purest of classical ballets, "Les Sylphides." She studied from a maestro of the Bolishoi Theater, I. Vasieliev, then joined the Carl Rosa Ballet Company as a soloist. With this company Mrs. Wattley learned Spanish and other national dances.

The International Ballet was her next venture. She joined Moira Shearer and Sonia Arova as soloists and youngest members. The ballet Master was the well-known Stanislaus Idzikowski. She was soloist in the Allied Ballets and had the honor of being chosen by composer, Adrian Beacham, son of Sir Thomas Beacham, and choreographer, Lydia Sokolova, as lead for the ballet, "Legend of the Silver Birch." This was the first performance of this ballet and was done in London.

Patricia studied during London seasons with Madame Judith Espinosa, daughter of the Cechetti School's most notable exponent, Lee Espinosa. After this experience she signed a five year contract to a management of Russian and Polish background as Premiere Danceuse. The first production was the opera "Sorotchinsky Fair" by Mousourskay. The next production was a combination musical-ballet show called "Anglo-Russian Merry-go-round." It contained classical, national, operaetta and musical comedy and was very popular. The company followed successful liberation of Europe and played at the opera houses of Burges, Ghent, Ostend, Antwerp and Paris and to mixed audiences of British and American Forces.

As the war ended, two well-known dancers returned to Europe, Leonide Massine and Irina Baranova, to star in a play-and-ballet combination called "Bullet in the Ballet" and due to the illness of Baranova, Mrs. Wattley took over the lead in one of the three ballets in the program at four hours notice. She danced with Massine in "Gaite Parisienne."

She was soloist in the film, "Red Shoes." Mrs. Wattley with a group formed an independent company and spent a long season at the Theatre du Champs Elysees. the company was deeply honored to be invited to take part in an event comparable only to a Royal Command Performance, Paris' "Bal au Petit Blanc," sharing honors with such artists as Louis Jourdan, Artur Reubenstein, Jean Louis Barrault and Edith Piaff. They were the only English artists to appear.

On a vacation to visit relatives in New Orleans, she met and married her husband in 1950 in New Orleans. Her husband is the Reverend James C. Wattley. He is the vicar in charge of St. Thomas' and St. Albans Episcopal churches. They have three children, a son, Geoffrey age seven and one-half years, two daughters, Lyn age five and one-half years and Cathy age four years. They reside on Walnut Street, Monroe.

Mrs. Harry Duke Speaks To Town-Country Club

Mrs. Harry Duke, an honor graduate of the Institution of Fine Foods in Copenhagen, Denmark, demonstrated ways to prepare and decorate unusual food as she talked to the Town and Country Garden Club at their recent meeting at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Mrs. Duke is the tenth woman to graduate from this school, and because of her outstanding achievements is the only woman to be awarded the Turborg European Tour. She was Director of Food Service in Switzerland and Norway.

In her lecture she said that food and flowers should be used to complement each other but they should not be mixed, that food should be decorated with other foods. As a decoration for a meat tray, she suggested roses cut from small Irish potatoes and lightly tinted, tomatoes cut to resemble stars. Grapefruit and lemons may be cut zig-gaz to produce a decorative effect. She demonstrated how mashed potatoes may be put on a tray with a pastry tube and browned to serve in attractive designs with meat and gravy.

The highlight of the meeting was the decorated and glazed roasted turkey centerpiece. The members present were Mrs. Dan Moore, Jr., Mrs. R. W. Dickenhorst, Mrs. Thomas Hayes Jr., Mrs. Lon Heuer, Mrs. David Garrett Jr., Mrs. J. A. Salisbury, Mrs. Charles Searcy, Mrs. Harry L. Stone, Mrs. John Clay, Mrs. Grant Boardman, Mrs. Lee Carbrey, Mrs. T. E. McCarty, Mrs. Richard Kellogg, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Roy Kelly, Mrs. N. Klam, Mrs. John Mullins and Mrs. John I. Neil.

Buddy Burgess Celebrates 4th Birthday

Grover C. "Buddy" Burgess III of Mangham celebrated his fourth birthday November 11 with many of his friends.

Brightly colored balloons were hung from the trees and shrubbery around his home in the Hixon Addition and also used as a decoration in the reception room. As each small guest arrived they were given party hats and whistles. His cake, fashioned to resemble an army fort, was decorated red, white and blue and surrounded by small soldiers, flags army trucks, jeeps and airplanes.

After all the guests had arrived they gathered around the refreshment table where "Happy Birthday" was sung. Cake, ice cream, candy and cold drinks were served. Souvenirs for the guests were small soldiers and airplanes.

Attending the party were Jane Ellen Brown, Rel and Ellen Matthews, Pamela and Debbie Dollar, Carol and Debbie Butler, David, Mark and John Michael Pickett, Reik and Mark Hixon, Wayne Smart, Jan McKay, Karen Hendrix and her cousin Johnette, Rachael and Glynn Boies, Twana Sue Greenhagen, Jo Joey and Gary Williams, Larry Austin, Nikki Piro, Karen and Rita Williamson, and Sheri Ann Burgess.

Faulk, president of the class, served coffee from the silver service. Trays of party cookies, sandwiches and mints were passed among the guests. Miss Jane Wallace entertained with piano selections.

Mrs. Upton Hosts KKI Last Week

Mrs. Edgar C. Upton of Rayville was hostess to the Sigma Conclave member of Kappa Kappa Iota, Coffee and German chocolate cake were served to each arrival. Mrs. John B. Bennett, president, called the meeting to order and introduced the primary business of the afternoon - that of the Richland group's responsibility for the state K. K. I. publication. Final plans were laid for last minute details and the printing of the edition which will be off the press about Nov. 15. Plans were also made for the Christmas meeting at which Wilma Francis and Lula McMahon will be co-hostesses. Instead of the usual Christmas gifts to each other, the group will give donations to the Memorial Scholarship fund in memory of the late Lucille Nesom of Tickfaw, one of the state officers of the organization.

State and National dues were reported mailed. Members were reminded of the state executive board's recent Alexandria meeting when plans were laid to give demerits to individuals who fail to attend local meetings.

In attendance were Mrs. Upton, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Elaine Kirkland, Miss Annette Joubert, Miss Marguerite Coeven, Mrs. Wilma Francis and Mrs. Lula McMahon.

Linville High School Girl Is Miss FHA

Miss Juanita Reppond was recently crowned as Miss FHA of Linville High School. The FHA Variety Show was held in the school gymnasium and Miss Judy Hale crowned Miss Reppond and served as Mistress of Ceremonies for the evening.

Besides Juanita Reppoind other contestants for Miss FHA included Winnie Wheeler, Maurine Pilgreen, Margurette Thedford, Charlotte Peterson, Ruby Gayle Shadic, Norma Turner, Patsy Bryant, Bobbie Roberson, Margaret Wilson, Virginia Pace, Linda Hill, Icea Lee Murphy, and Myra Henery.

Each girl was judged on service in FHA for school, home and community, poise, personality, grooming and individual talent.

Serving as judges for the occasion were Charles Allen, C. G. Hobgood, and Mrs. Novia Buckley. The two runner - ups contestants were Margurette Thedford and Myra Henery.

Other amusing numbers on the variety show included Eugene Thomas special songs and an impersonation of the McGuire Sisters by A. A. Hollis, J. B. Graves and Eugene Thomas, with Mrs. John Bird adding a comical conclusion.

Paperboard production last week rose slightly above the previous week and was considerably higher than a year ago. The industry, considered a barometer of business activity, has been producing at an unprecedented rate since Labor Day.

A COLORFUL CARD table setting such as this will enhance your Canasta party basket buffet. A pretty basket of daisies decks the back of each Canasta player's chair and sets the theme for your party. And a basket cage laden with the same flowers and bright paper butterflies is suspended overhead like a graceful chandelier. The woven cold drink coasters and wicker wheelbarrow for nuts also tie in with the basket-y event.

Use Baskets For Theme At Canasta Party

If you are not among the lucky ones journeying to the warmer climes as wintry winds blow, at least you can enjoy some of the joys of a "South of the Border" trip right in your own home — with a deck of cards instead of an airline ticket.

With a dash of imagination and a little effort you and your friends can have the fun of such South American games as Bolivia, Uraguay, Chile or Samba around your card table.

All of these games are fast-moving, high - scoring variations of Canasta, still the most popular card game with the 120 million Americans who play cards. Thus, a "South of the Border" Canasta Fiesta party is a wonderfully refreshing way to start off the cold weather home entertainment season.

The meaning of the word Canasta suggests the theme for your party. In the Spanish of South America where the game originated in the late forties, Canasta literally means "basket." So what could be more appropriate for a perfect afternoon or evening entertainment than a gay, relaxed Canasta party and basket buffet for Canasta fans as well as those who might be trying their hand at the game for the first time.

You can build a charming card table setting for this basket-y event. To carry out the basket theme, you might hang a small basket of daisies on the back of each player's chair and suspend a wicker cage of similar flowers overhead like a graceful chandelier. Both of these decorative effects are delightful and easy to arrange. Chances are your guests will want to take the chair baskets home as favors and the basket cage would make a wonderful prize for the top scorer. You can find a wide variety of inexpensive and attractive baskets to choose from in local variety, department or hardware stores or florists' shops.

After your guests have had their fill of weaving Canastas and Sambas and "taking the pack," you can bring out your basket buffet service. An ordinary inexpensive French bread basket is a handy size for your basket buffet, one for each guest. You can fill each basket with wrapped party sandwiches or fried chicken, a paper container of salad and another container for dessert. Include napkin, fork and spoon with each basket setting.

As an added touch to provide extra color, you might decorate each basket with a face from a used deck, such as a Queen for the ladies and Kings, Jacks or even Jokers for the men. Buffet baskets are practical for serving, too, as they can be prepared hours in advance of the Canasta party and conveniently carried off to the kitchen afterwards.

Parents Want To See Daughters Marry Well

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: "What's wrong with musicians? I happen to be a musician by profession and every time I get interested in a girl she chills me off because her folks don't want her going with a musician. They say we are lazy, no good tramps, even dope addicts. One father told me he liked me personally and if I gave up music and settled down he would get me a job in a "respectable" business. I studied hard to be a musician and I am a good one, but it seems to be a handicap in getting a decent girl. Why, Abby? MUSICIAN

DEAR MUSICIAN: All parents want to see their daughters marry well. A musician sleeps days and works nights. Temptations are many. He travels and when jobs are scarce he is not equipped to make a living doing something else. But one thing is in your favor—when a girl marries a musician, he can be sure it's love!

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married a man I didn't love and six months after we were married he joined the Navy. He was overseas for 24 months and while he was gone I fell head over heels in love with another fellow. We goofed and I became pregnant. I planned to divorce my husband and marry the man I loved, but when my husband came home, the baby's father took off and we can't locate him. My husband is very mad at me. Should I keep trying to find the father of my baby (the baby is adorable and looks a lot like my legal husband) or should I stay married and try to make the best of it? IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: If your legal husband will have you, you are luckier than you deserve. Beg his forgiveness and try to make a respectable woman of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do in my case? My husband will not sit down and write his mother a letter or a card to let her know he is all right. His parents are quite old and I know they skimp and save but they have to put in a long-distance call to find out if their son is still living. I am sick of nagging him about this. Please give me a solution. SICK OF NAGGING

DEAR SICK: Quit aggravating yourself. Write to his folks yourself. They will appreciate it more than you know. Your husband will have a long time to regret his thoughtlessness.

CLOTHES QUIZ

Soft Taupe Tone Is Good Color For Fall

By BETH BLAIR

Welcome to any wardrobe is the dash of color that holiday fashions offer this year. Consider the flattering red to rust tones, blues that range all the way to amethyst and purples and then for the neutral beige and taupe colors that look so smart in woolen costumes. A reader writes—

Dear Miss Blair:

Lately I have added a bright red and green to my wardrobe in dressy, afternoon woolens. One is a suit and the other a slim dress with cut-out neckline. What accessories would do for both? I would like to avoid black.

A soft taupe tone would be a good accessory color for both the red and green costumes. There are many lighter to beige tones also which might be good. Perhaps suede shoes and handbag in this color would be good or you might invest in one of the smaller envelope type handbags to match the red or green dress and have a change from exactly the same accessories with both costumes.

Dear Miss Blair:

I would like to change the neckline of a sheath dress which now has a high, jewel neckline. Sleeves are long and I wonder about cutting them short to give the dress a dressy, cocktail look. My face is very round. What shape neckline should I cut?

A V-shape neckline would be most flattering for you or you might like a shallow square neck. I would suggest you leave the sleeves long—new styles show the open neckline and longer sleeve combination.

In the closed room, Neuman and Rothlein auctioned rapidly to six no trump with the East-West cards. The ten of spades was opened, won by Dummy's ace. The successful club finesse and the diamond break now produced 13 tricks. East-West plus 1,020.

In the open room, after six rounds of bidding, Hazen and Fry arrived at a seven diamond contract. The opening lead was the deuce of hearts. After long thought, Hazen decided his best play was to rely on a 3-2 diamond break, and ruffed two hearts in dummy, thus making thirteen tricks without a finesse. As may be seen, any good line of play would have succeeded. East-West plus 1,440.

This grand slam was bid on slightly less values than most American experts like. However, Hazen and Fry felt that the Rothlein team, somewhat behind and in the closing stages of the match, would be apt to bid seven in an attempt to pick up points. If this were true, Hazen and Fry could not lose points by being in seven, but, if the grand slam were on, could drop a good deal if they stopped at six.

TEEN-AGE MAIL

By All Means Have Teeth Straightened

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am 16 years old and I have never had a date! I am considered attractive except for my teeth which protrude. My parents want me to wear braces but I'm afraid to because one of my girl friends said wearing braces is painful and I just don't like the idea of being a 'walking hardware store.' I read your column all the time and my parents advised me to write to you and ask for your advice. Thank you. Priscilla

Dear Priscilla:

Protruding teeth cause a person to have homely (or even stupid looking) facial expressions so some people treat them accordingly. I know several cases where boys and girls were teased so much even their grades dropped. The constant tag of "beaver tooth" or "squirrel mouth" got to be almost more than they could take.

However, once the correction was made it not only made a terrific difference in the youngsters' looks but also in their mental attitude. So, their classmates 'discovered' them all over again, their grades picked up and they were much happier young people.

Wearing braces can be a bit uncomfortable at times but it is nothing in comparison to the feeling of being rejected by people because of your looks. My advice is to make an appointment with the best Orthodontist in your city TODAY.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

When our 19-year-old son entered the Service he and his 17-year-old girl friend promised to write each other daily. Later on when he was home he promised to write us every other day and the girl on the alternate days. He did this for two weeks. Then she insisted that he write her every day because she writes him five and six page letters daily. Now he doesn't have time to write to us. We thought she was a sweet girl when our son went in the Service, and he still considers her perfect. But we have lost all respect for her. How should a boy in the Service divide his letter writing?

Let Down Parents

Dear "Let Down Parents":

Speaking as the mother of a young man who spent three years in the Service (most of it out of this country) I think you and your son's girl are both being very unreasonable.

To expect the boy to write every day, or every other day, is expecting too much. Most boys are not prolific letter writers anyway and it is difficult to find something new and interesting to write about several times a week. My advice is for you and this girl to stop competing with each other for mail and stop putting pressure on the boy for more letters. I do think he should try to write his parents once a week, even if its only a card and if he wants to) write his girl two or three times a week, depending on his working schedule.

A Magnesium Ladder Is An Ideal Gift

Every day industrial designers are thinking up new labor - saving devices to make house work easier. Despite the influx into the market of hundreds of helpful items, there still remain areas in which the housewife needs a light assist to save her strain and effort.

If a thoughtful husband would like to give his wife a gift during "Save-A-Wife" Week (November 14-22) to ease such strains, a magnesium heartsaver ladder would be ideal and of value to the whole family.

Too often, householders tend to forget that work done at any height from the floor should be made easier, safer, and if possible, completely fool - proof.

This applies to all the little necessary tasks such as hanging curtains and pictures, dusting the moulding, wiping the walls, replacing books and objets d'art after cleaning, putting away summer and winter clothing, reaching high kitchen shelves and cabinets and for other innumerable chores all over the household domain.

Safety in doing such work applies to all members of the family — their particular types of work and interests. The usual ladder, even of two or three steps only, is frequently heavy and precarious to move around. Now, however, there is a five - foot magnesium ladder, a happy combination of strength and the lightest weight, which can be transported around the house by a favorite wife practically on one pinkie. A five-foot ladder offers greater safety than a shorter one at times, as it braces the user, who may try to overreach from the top of a short one. Previously the five - foot ladder was too heavy to haul around; now, a woman or a child can lift and carry one with ease.

CHANGE OF PACE — Roast Goose offers a change of pace for holiday feasting. Add a cup of hot, brisk tea or coffee between the many rich courses of the meal.

Oysters Offered At Bargain Prices

By RECA JONES
Staff Writer

Fresh oysters sound the holiday note as they are a traditional treat in oyster dressing for Thanksgiving Day festive turkey dinner.

Right now oysters are of excellent quality and are available in most markets.

The price of turkey —especially tom turkeys —is designed to fit even the tightest budget. An economical note is added for those who have freezers. Buy a tom turkey and divide it, serving half at Thanksgiving and the other half at Christmas time.

Add colorful fall fruits to the menu and the festive season is complete. Let the menu sparkle with cranberries, apples, grapefruit, oranges, lemons, grapes, pears. Add to these the dried fruits such as dates, figs, prunes, raisins, plus the nuts —pecans, chestnuts and English walnuts — and the holiday season is complete.

There is little change in the price of meats. Many markets are featuring steaks, possibly because they are slow movers.

Spareribs are a good value in some markets. Pork liver —more nutritious than beef or calf liver —is priced low. Stew meats, beef shank or short ribs are other economy suggestions.

PECAN PIE

Mix together in a bowl:
Two tabdespoons cornmeal
One-half cup sugar
Add:
Two well beaten eggs
One cup dark corn syrup
Four tablespoons melted butter
Mix well and pour this into the unbaked pie shell. Then add:
One cup pecans

Bake in a 350-degree oven for 30 to 5 minutes. To test the pie for doneness, hold the edge of the pie pan with a hot pot holder and shake it. If the pecans in the center of the pie just quiver, but don't move around, the pie is done.

ROAST STUFFED GOOSE

Wipe the goose with a damp cloth and rub inside and out with salt and pepper. Stuff the goose lightly, sew up the vent and truss legs and wings close to the body. Prick skin well with a two-tined fork. Place goose on a rack in a roasting pan and roast in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue to roast, allowing 20 minutes per pound, undressed weight. Base frequently with a little water or stock and pour off most of the fat as it accumulates in the pan. While the goose is cooking, place giblets and neck in a saucepan with 1 small onion, sliced, a few leaves of celery, ½ teaspoon salt and a little pepper. Cover with 2 cups cold water, bring to a boil and simmer for 1 hour. Strain broth, reserving it for the gravy, and chop the giblets. When the goose is done, remove all but 2 tablespoons of the fat from the roasting pan and stir in 2 tablespoons flour. Gradually add the hot broth, stirring in all the brown bits from the bottom and sides of the roasting pan. Add chopped giblets and simmer for 5 minutes. Pour into a sauceboat and serve separately.

APPLE STUFFING

Allow 1 cup bread crumbs for each pound of goose. Double or triple recipe according to amount needed.

4 cups fresh bread crumbs
1 large onion, minced
1 large, tart apple, chopped
¼ pound (1 stick) butter
1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
1 tablespoon mixed dried savvory and marjoram
¼ cup broth

Prepare bread crumbs. Saute onion and apple in the butter until onion is transparent and add to the crumbs. Add seasonings, moisten with the broth and toss with a fork until lightly blended.

Put any leftover dressing in a casserole and bake it with the goose for about 45 minutes before the goose is ready for the table.

BISHOP'S BREAD

Bishops' Bread, adapted from an old German recipe, is half way between bread and cake. The loaf is bountifully studded with currants, raisins, citron, nuts and bitter chocolate.

5 eggs, separated
¼ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups sugar
6 ounces blanched, slivered almonds
1 cup seedless raisins
½ cup mixed fruit peel or citron
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, coarsely shaved
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour

Beat egg yolks until light and foamy. Add salt and gradually beat in the sugar. Continue to beat until mixture is thick and pale in color. Add almonds, raisins, peel and chocolate and fold in the egg whites, stiffly beaten. Fold in the flour. Turn mixture into a greased spring-form pan or loaf pan and bake in a 250 degrees F. oven for 2 hours, or until loaf tests done. Remove from pan to cool on cake rack and serve sprinkled with confectioners' sugar.

Sugar Coating Of Pills Rapped By Physician

TORONTO (AP)—Sugar coating of pills has gone too far, says an article in the Journal of the Canadian Medical Assn.

Dr. Henri J. Breault singles out sugared pills of aspirin. He says 121 cases of headache tablet poisoning were recorded in Windsor, Ont., during a 240-day period. One victim died.

If a child finds the bottle of pleasant-tasting tablets he may not stop with one or two, he says, and there is no known antidote.

"The flavoring or coating of bitter and distasteful medicines has apparently defeated its purpose by making drugs too attractive and similar to candies," says the Journal.

ILLITERATE THIEVES

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A sign on the safe in the Lazzari Fuel Co. office said there was no money inside, just papers.

Thieves broke it open anyway, found $1,000 and took it.

Grant Attends New Orleans Research Meet

DELHI (Special) — Louisiana Delta Council will be represented by Secretary - Manager Harvey P. Grant, Jr., of Delhi, at a public hearing on needs and the facilities for soil and water conservation research being held in New Orleans today.

Farmers, farm organizations, and lay groups interested in soil and water conservation in Louisiana and adjoining states have been invited to present their recommendations at the hearing.

The group will consider research needs in watershed engineering, erosion control, water management, soil management and basic soil problems.

In a joint statement, H. B. Martin, state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, and Dr. J. Norman Efferson, dean of the College of Agriculture of LSU, urged Louisiana farmers and organizations to take advantage of this opportunity.

This is the 14th hearing in the principal cities of the United States. It is being held in response to a request by the U. S. Senate Committee on Agricultural Appropriations.

Holding the hearing are Dr. G. M. Browning of Iowa State College, representing state agricultural experiment stations; Gerald E. Ryerson of the federal Soil Conservation Service, Washington and Dr. Cecil H. Wadleigh and Dr. Darnell M. Whitt of the Agricultural Research Service, Beltsville, Md.

Grant pointed out yesterday that Agriculture Secretary Benson, in announcing appointment of the working group on July 29, 1958, directed it to focus its attention on problems of national and regional importance. The states are concerned with problems having only state or local significance.

VACATION'S OVER

BATON ROUGE (UPI)—Mayor Jack Christian of Baton Rouge is back at his desk today after a whirlwind, 17-day, trip through five South American countries. Christian headed a group of 23 North Americans attending the Inter-American conference in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil.

'DELICIOUS TO TASTE' — Turkey shouldn't be just turkey but rather meet the wonderful standard set by French epicure Brillat-Savarin who described it as "charming to look upon, delightful to smell, and delicious to taste."

Nugget Stuffing Improves Turkey

Even a most experienced cook sometimes has a sneaking feeling that she could improve some of her holiday dishes.

Top of the list comes the turkey stuffing. Does that old family favorite have just the right fluffiness and moisture: Does its flavor agree with the rich juicy dark slices of the turkey meat, the delicate flavor of the white? Do the first forkfuls tempt the assembly around the Thanksgiving table to want more and more?

And how about the bird itself? Is it, as the great French epicure Brillat-Savarin once described a roast turkey he served in the United States, "charming to look upon, delightful to smell, and delicious to taste?"

The dressing first. At our house the following recipe was offered recently and pleased a variety of tasters — young and old, solid Americans, a transplanted Englishwoman and a Canadian. In it bread crumbs, butter, onion and a large amount of celery intermingle; but its real flavor secret is the addition of nuggets of sweetly-tart cooked dried apricots. Atlhough this stuffing has its own delicious and distinctive character, it goes well with any of the usual holiday vegetables — green peas, white onions, white turnip, squash, brussels sprouts, potatoes (white or sweet).

We use this dressing in frozen ready-to-stuff turkeys that weigh from six to eight pounds. Before stuffing, the bird should be given ample time to thaw in the regular refrigerator —usually a day and a night. If you choose one of these ready-to-stuff frozen birds, remember that a six-to-eight pounder will serve six to eight persons. One of the best things about these modern turkeys is that some of them come with the drumsticks tucked into a slit of skin at the bast of the breastbone, a feature that eliminates trussing. All the cook has to do is to bend the wing tips under and back, akimbo fashion, and the bird can be put in the roasting pan.

ROAST TURKEY WITH NUGGET STUFFING

Ingredients: ½ pound dried apricots, water, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup (¼ pound) butter or margarine, 1-3 cup (1 medium-size) finely chopped onion, 1½ cups finely chopped celery, 1 package (8 ounces) herb-seasoned stuffing, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 ready-to-stuff frozen turkey (6 to 8 pounds), extra soft butter or margarine.

Method: Put apricots and 1 cup water in a 1-quart saucepan; simmer until tender; stir in sugar. Drain, reserving apricot liquid; measure 1 cup of the apricots and quarter each one, refrigerate remaining ½ apricots for some other use. Add enough water to apricot liquid to make ½ cup; reserve. Melt ¼ cup of the butter in a 3-quart saucepan or kettle; add onion and clery. Cook slowly, stirring often, until partly softened — about 5 minutes. Add remaining butter and apricot liquid mixture; heat slowly, stirring to melt butter. Add quartered apricots, stuffing, salt and pepper; mix well with a fork. Spoon stuffing into neck and body cavities of turkey. Rub surface of turkey with soft butter or margarine; roast according to turkey wrapper directions or favorite method. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Work Is Delayed On Building Of London Structure

That is higher than any other office building in this low-slung city and only 27 feet lower than London's tallest landmark, historic St. Paul's Cathedral, whose dome reaches 365 feet.

The building is scheduled for completion by some time in 1961. But a rash of strikes — called without union sanction but with Communist endorsement — have made it doubtful that the target date will be met.

Until recently, London construction regulations barred buildings more than 11 stories and about 120 to 150 feet tall. But because of modern construction methods these regulations have been relaxed and several skyscraper buildings are planned.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Space Age Big Teacher Problem

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — (UPI) — Imagine the plight of a math or science teacher facing a classroom of curious youngsters whose fathers are blazing trails in the uncharted field of rocketry.

For three years, pretty June Rodgers has been embarrassed in her eighth and ninth grade math classes at nearby Cocoa Junior High School by such questions as, "How would a rocket fired from a space platform get any thrust if there's no air for it to push against?"

Because the field of missiles and rockets is so new there aren't any textbooks, the Cocoa chapter of the American Rocket Society's Florida division offered to instruct Brevard County teachers in the fundamentals of rocketry—but not just to save the teachers embarrassment.

"The idea was that the teachers would pass this information on to the students," said Capt. Mike Sellars, head of the Navy's Polaris missile project at Cape Canaveral. "We hope some of them will want to go into this field eventually."

When the rocket group broached the idea to Brevard school authorities, they jumped at it. The result is a four-month program of instruction in which 31 teachers chosen from a much larger group of applicants attend a two-hour session every Thursday.

Originally, the classes were to be limited to 25 student-teachers. "But when six 'rejects' showed up and said they wanted to watch through the windows we went ahead and let them in," said the school official who selected members of the class.

The courses in this unprecedented program aren't highly technical but they're imposing to the layman. Soon the harassed teachers will be able to expound on such subjects as the history and mathematics of rocket propulsion and thrust computations" and "flight mechanics, aerodynamic, and celestial mechanics."

Sellars said he has heard other parts of Florida are interested in starting a similar program, but the chances are the youngsters in other countries won't be as fortunate in getting instructors. Brevard County has probably the heaviest concentration of missile experts of any area in the country.

The course also will include talks on how to build a homemade rocket and the dangers of unsupervised experimentation. But Sellars said he hopes the Brevard County students can also be interested in the principles of rocketry.

Miss Rodgers, 24, said she feels the best answer to the problem is to advise the eager youngsters to steer clear of the highly technical aspects of the field until they learn "the basic knowledge of mathematics and science."

"But this course will certainly help me," she said. "With 80 per cent of my students children of men at the Cape, I've been stumped more times than I'd like to admit."

In case you also were stumped by that poser hurled at Miss Rodgers, missilemen say a rocket in airless space doesn't "push against" anything. The force generated by a rocket engine is like water spurting from the nozzle of a hose—if the nozzle isn't held stationary, it will move in the opposite direction. Got it?

Sweepers Can Cut Cleaning Chores Sharply

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Stopwatch tests show that housewives can cut cleaning time 75 per cent by knowing when to use the vacuum cleaner and carpet sweeper.

The tests showed that a woman using a vacuum cleaner took four minutes, 40 seconds, to clean a small spot of spilled ashes on a 9-by-12 rug. The same job took 75 seconds with a carpet sweeper.

Use the vacuum cleaner when you must clean an entire rug or carpet, and in weekly housecleaning.

GETS JUVENILE COURT

BATON ROUGE (UPI) — Jefferson parish will have a new juvenile court starting Dec. 11. The creation of the new court was approved during the special session of the legislature. Gov. Earl Long will have to call a special election for the judgeship. The court's jurisdiction will include cases involving children under 17 years of age.

The first cook book was published in the U. S. at Williamsburg, Va., in 1742. Its title: "The Compleat Housewife, or Accomplished Gentlewoman's Companion."

Russian Kids Held Healthier Than Our Own

PHILADELPHIA — (UPI) — Obeying the party line is health habit No. 1 in Russia-and one result is a crop of children who are healthier generally than their American counterparts.

This is the diagnosis of Dr. Joseph Stokes Jr., President of the American Pediatric Society, who recently returned from a study tour of Russia to lay the groundwork for a long-range cultural exchange program.

"It seemed to me that the Russians do a much better job of preventive care than we do here," he explained, "and the result is that you have generally healthier children."

Dr. Stokes observed that children in the "lower-economic groups" in America often do not receive proper care because they are not taken to physicians or clinics.

"But in Russia," he said, "every baby must be brought to the hospital once a month for the first six months, then every other month up to one year, and then two to four times a year after that until the age of seven, when the school authorities take over. At that time their medical case histories are turned over to the school doctors."

"A number of phases of our medical research, however, are more advanced than over there," Dr. Stokes said, explaining that we have made greater strides, for example, in the field of rheumatic fever, which is one of the top child killers in Russia.

The No. 1 killer in the United States, he said, is accidents.

"We have so many more automobiles on the streets that in Russia. There they have more trucks and the trucks move much slower. I can't say what it will be like two years from now."

Dr. Stokes, who is Physician-In-Chief at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, traveled in Russia under the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee. The exchange, which included other U. S. doctors, was arranged in cooperation with the Soviet Societies for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries.

RUBY APPLESAUCE

Ingredients: ½ cup water, ½ cup cranberries, 3 medium-sized McIntosh apples, salt, ¼ cup sugar.

Method: Put the water and cranberries in a 1-quart saucepan. Quarter apples and core; slice thin without peeling; arrange over cranberries. Add a dash of salt. Boil over moderate heat until cranberries all pop—bout 5 minutes. Continue to cook fairly rapidly, stirring a few times, until apples are soft; watch so as not to scorch because mixture will be thick. Stir in sugar over low heat. Put through food mill or force through a strainer. Makes about 1 cup. Chill before serving.

Ingredients: 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, ¼ cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 2½ tablespoons butter or margarine, milk 1-3 cup finely sliced scallions (without green tops), 2 tablespoons flour, pepper.

Method: Put frozen spinach, boiling water and ½ teaspoon of the salt in a 1½-quart saucepan. Have heat moderate and turn spinach with a fork occassionally to break up; cook a few minutes longer. Drain, reserving liquid in a measure; add enough milk to spinach liquid to make 1 cup. Melt butter in a saucepan over low heat; add scallions; cook gently, stirring several times, until golden — about 5 minutes. Stir in flour; add milk mixture, remaining ½ teaspoon salt and pepper to taste. Cook and stir over low heat until thickened and bubbly. Add drained spinach; reheat. Makes 4 servings.

DATE NUT BREAD

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ cup boiling water, ½ cup orange juice, 3 tablespoons coarsely grated orange rind, 1 egg, 1 cup thinly sliced pitted dates, ¼ cup coarsely chopped Brazil nuts.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Make sure sugar is not lumpy; stir it in. Stir butter and boiling water together until butter melts; stir in orange juice and rind. With rotary beater (hand or electric) beat egg until thick and pale colored; add to orange mixture along with dry ingredients; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fold in Brazil nuts. Turn into buttered loaf pan (8 by 4 by 2½ inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on rack to cool. Serve at once or store, after wrapping tightly, in refrigerator.

Prepare Letter An Answer To Moon Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—So many people are claiming the moon the Interior Department had to prepare a form letter to answer them.

Officials said Wednesday the claims—"a lot of them"—have been coming in over the past 15 years.

The form letter was designed to let the claimants know that the Interior Department feels it can't do anything about their desire to own some out-in-space acreage.

Unfortunately, the department didn't have the form letter ready when Charlene Majers of Guntown, Miss., wrote in asserting her ownership of the moon. So a letter was sent her which merely said that "This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter advising us of your claim."

As a result, the report got from Guntown that the Reclamation Bureau (an agency of the department) had recognized her claim to moon ownership.

It said it was "in no position" to rule on a legal lunar ownership.

Accept Gomez's Resignation

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's Congress early Thursday accepted the resignation of Vice President Alejandro Gomez and ended a week-long government crisis.

Gomez had denied for six days that he had plotted to overthrow President Arturo Frondizi but he went into the Senate Tuesday and tearfully resigned under fire.

The votes were not counted. The majority Intransigent Radical party, which supported both Frondizi and Gomez in the elections last February, voted solidly to accept the resigation.

SPOTLIGHT ON FOOD

By MILDRED SWIFT
LSU Extension Service

Most all homemakers who plan food for hungry families will agree that chilly days mean active appetites!

Even though it's an incentive to have the meals you've prepared consumed with appreciative enthusiasm, sometimes it's hard to think of new menu ideas that are in agreement with both your time and budget.

MENU

THE BRISKET

Since brisket is usually cut in strips for soup making, you'll have to talk to your butcher a few days in advance. Tell him you want a brisket roast which is usually cut almost square. Here is the recipe.

BRISKET SUPREME

A 4 pound brisket roast
½ cup diced celery
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup chopped onion
2 Cloves garlic (optional)
Enough water to cover

Put above ingredients in a pot with a close fitting lid. Let simmer until very tender. Remove brisket from water and place in a shallow dish or pan.

Beat one egg slightly. Brush the brisket with this and sprinkle dry bread crumbs over the roast. The egg holds the crumbs on the meat. Place this in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the crumbs have browned. Eat as it is or make onion gravy to cover each slice.

ONION GRAVY

3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour

Brown in a skillet. Add 2 or more cups of the broth where the brisket was steamed. Cook until smooth. Next add 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and 1 package of onion soup. A can may be used instead of the package. Serve the gravy with the brisket, which is an inexpensive cut of beef.

THE DESSERT

Here is a recipe for about the quickest, easiest and most delicious rice pudding I've ever tasted. It's not original with me so I can afford to brag a little.

ELEGANT RICE PUDDING

1½ cups cold rice
1 cup coconut (fresh or canned)
½ cup of canned or frozen peaches
¼ cup crushed pineapple (optional)

Mix above ingredients

Chill:

1 can evaporated milk. Whip until stiff. Add:
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Fold whipped milk into rice mixture.

Be sure the milk and beater are cold and the milk will whip.

CHOOSE CHEESE

Cheese is a handy food package. It's a concentrated bundle of high grade protein food. It's always available and easy to keep on hand.

VARIETIES

There are 400 varieties of cheese. The person who said, "If you don't like cheese, there's still one variety you haven't tasted, "certainly made a good point.

You new homemakers have asked me to tell you something about the most common cheese varieties. Here they are:

Roquefort, Bleu. Both of these are the same type and can be used interchangeably. They have bluish-green veins of mold and the cheese is almost white. They have a sweet, piquant taste and are used in salad dressings, as appetizers and with desserts.

Swiss: That's the cheese with the holes in it. It has a mild, sweet, nut-like flavor. Used in sandwiches like ham and Swiss on rye.

MORE ABOUT CHEESE

Some types of cheese do not freeze well. Among these are some of the soft varieties such as cream, Limburger, Camembert, Roquefort, and blue cheese. The last two taste soapy after freezing.

COOKING

Cheese needs to be cooked at a low temperature and for a short time. Cheese combines well with most foods. Cheese is an excellent meat substitute. Here is a recipe that is almost a meal within itself.

CREAM OF CHEESE SOUP

(Makes 6 cups of soup)

1½ cups grated carrots
1 cup water
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoon butter
2 cups milk
2 cups chicken broth or bouillion
½ pound sharp cheese, diced
6 tablespoons flour

Cook carrots and celery in boiling water until tender. Cook onion in butter until tender but not brown. Add flour — add milk and chicken broth. Cook over low heat until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese. Stir to blend. Stir in vegetables and cooking water. Serve topped with chopped parsley or tiny croutons.

Remember you get almost the same food nutrients from cheese that you get from milk.

See you next Thursday afternoon and Friday morning.

TELEVISION NOTES

Wednesday Night Thrillers Poor

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two CBS-TV shows presented hour dramas Wednesday night that, I suppose, were offered as thrillers. Both managed to avoid agitating my nerve ends to any discernible extent.

One was one of those Irish Republican Army things where everyone acts irrationally amidst dulcet sounds and it was proffered by the "U.S. Steel Hour," a program that has racked up a record of amazingly consistent mediocrity recently.

Wednesday night's steel show employed Barry Sullivan, Philip Bourneuf and Geraldine Brooks, all of them players of competence. But they were thrown into a situation where prospective murderers acted foolishly, their victim foolishly and the victim's wife foolishly. It was all. . .well, kind of foolish.

The other CBS-TV drama show, "Pursuit," shows every sign—as I said at the beginning of the season — of becoming another "Climax" show. You remember "Climax" — it was a rather tedious hour of theatrics which colded last season.

Wednesday night's "Pursuit"—"Kiss Me Again, Stranger"—was cast in the typical "Climax" mold: A suspense show without suspense. An action story without action. A thriller that more closely resembled twitter. Margaret O'Brien and Jeffrey Hunter struggled with a couple of icky roles. Myron McCormick and Mort Sahl were wasted.

Short Shots: Helen Traubel laughs so heartily at so little—witness her 30 second appearance on Wednesday night's NBC-TV "Milton Berle Show" — that I suspect she records the sound tracks for all of TV's dreary little situation comedies. . .On the two occasions on which I've caught Elsa Lanchester on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show," she has struck me as a charming and witty woman. Only one thing—Wednesday night in watching her, I had the weird feeling that she bore a strange resemblance to the late poet Dylan Thomas.

The Channel Swim: ABC-TV's "Sammy Kaye Show" is ticketed for the graveyard. CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" is preparing a profile of Woodrow Wilson. Hermione Gingold, a semi-regular on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show," will have her memoirs, "The World Is Square," published on Dec. 10.

Martin Manulis, former boss of CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90," is supervising production of a 20th Century-Fox TV pilot film about a college freshman, "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" — Max Shulman is writing the scrip. Edward Downes will take over the intermission quizmaster job on CBS Radio's Metropolitan Opera broadcasts when they uncork on Nov. 29 with "Carmen." Downes father, Olin, also held the quiz job several seasons back.

Ann Loring, who plays "Tammy" on CBS-TV's "Love of Life," has sold a play, "Autumn Decision," to a Broadway producer. Arthur Godfrey has booked in Red Barber, Sam Levenson and Robert Briscoe, former lord mayor of Dublin, for chat sessions on his CBS-TV morning show.

Surplus Hippo Sold—Plus Tax

NEW YORK (AP)—A surplus hippopotamus at the Central Park Zoo was sold for $2,450 Wednesday. Added to the purchase price was a city sales tax of $73.50.

A. E. Johnson, board chairman of the Midwest Oil Co. and Argo Oil Co. of Denver, bought Bertie, the two-year-old, 1,000-pound hippopotamus. He plans to present it as a gift to the Denver Zoo.

The city tax is required because Bertie is regarded as an "item" within the city limits.

Community Reacts To Union Slaying

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
United Press International

CHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — This community of 3,000 population is greatly stirred up by an unusual homicide — the shooting to death of a union organizer by a factory president plagued by union trouble.

In jail in nearby Goshen, awaiting possible grand jury action, is Malcolm R. White, 48, mild-appearing head of Chester Cable Corp., which manufactures cable and electrical wiring. The man he killed was Alfred Dugan, 52, a dapper 6-footer who had been trying to dislodge one union within White's plant and substitute his own local.

"It was justifiable homicide," said Henry Hirschberg, newly-appointed counsel for White.

"The defendant is not in the criminal class. He is a man who led a good life and got involved in an unfortunate episode. He had never committed a crime. He tells me he was in terror of Dugan. He says he knew Dugan had a criminal record."

HAD FEARED ATTACK

The paths of White and Dugan crossed half a mile from White's picketed plant at about 8:20 last Thursday morning. White claims, according to Hirschberg, that as Dugan came toward White he had his hand in his pocket and that White thought the man was going to attack him. White "wanted to protect himself," said Hirschberg. White emptied his .32 calibre automatic into Dugan.

Hirschberg's first move in White's defense was to request an open public hearing for White. In letters to Magistrate Peter B. Bush and Orange County Dist. Atty. Abraham S. Isseks, he urged such a hearing as soon as possible, preferably next week.

The grand jury has not yet acted in the case. If Hirschberg's move fails, he said he will then have to wait and see whether the grand jury returns an indictment against White—or not.

CLAIMS SELF-DEFENSE

Hirschberg said today that the defendant will not claim duress. The attorney pointed out that White willingly gave himself up.

If White is brought to trial for the killing of Dugan, his defense will be "self-defense," according to Hirschberg. The lawyer said he would contend it was a case of justifiable homicide and that White is entitled to acquittal.

Hirschberg is a colorful attorney and well-known in this region. He is 79 years old and is a veteran of almost 100 murder cases in which he acted as either prosecutor or counsel for the defense. He was once an attorney for Harry K. Thaw.

"I think White should be freed," said Hirschberg. "I am not working for a plea of less than first degree murder. I want him out of jail a free man."

Mrs. Eleanor White, the defendant's wife, has visted her husband in the Goshen jail several times since his arrest. She is White's second wife. White has three children, two by his first wife and one by his present wife.

White was reported to be holding up pretty well in jail but, according to Hirschberg, he sometimes becomes depressed.

Police Reports

RECEIVES INJURY

A 17-year-old West Monroe youth Leroy Saucer, received injuries, believed not serious, when the automobile in which he was riding went out of control and struck a light pole on South Grand street. The accident occurred shortly after midnight.

Saucer was taken to the Charity Hospital for treatment.

Monroe police, investigating the accident, gave the following account: Marshall E. Wright, 20, Route 3, West Monroe, was traveling south on South Grand street. As the vehicle approached the intersection with Egan street, the vehicle went out of control and struck a light pole.

Wright was charged with reckless driving, negligent injury and damage to property. Bond was set at $1,330.

MISSING PERSON

Monroe police are searching for a local woman, Mrs. Joyce Witherington, 701 Orange street, who has been missing since late last night. She was last seen in a local clinic where she was taken for treatment earlier.

Mrs. Witherington is described as 5 feet, 6 inches tall, with brown hair and eyes, and wearing a blue skirt and tan sweater.

TRAFFIC COUNT

Members of the Monroe police department issued 87 tickets, 81 of which were for parking violations. The other tickets were: Three for reckless driving; two for turning where prohibited; and one for speeding.

Four accidents, involving one injury, was investigated by the department.

GETS OLD POST

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Alfonso Grez, who was Chile's consul general in New York for six years before World War II, has been reappointed to the post.

Illinois Univ. To Construct Big Telescope

CHICAGO (UPI)— The world's most powerful radio telescope, capable of extending scientific research far beyond man's present knowledge of space, will be built by the University of Illinois.

The university's board of directors Wednesday announced plans to construct a device which may shift the world's center of radio astronomy from Jodrell Bank, England, to an isolated corner of Illinois.

Cost of the instrument was not estimated, but trustees said it will be borne by the federal government. The office of Naval Research already has promised $233,000.

The British government built the largest existing radio telescope, at Jodrell Bank, at a cost of about $2,240,000.

The Jodrell Bank instrument, used as the most authoritative device for tracking American and Russian satellites, can reach into space about 1,000 times further than the largest visual telescope.

University and government officials have selected a ravine about five miles from Danville, Ill., as the site of the new instrument. Trustees Wednesday approved buying a 220-acre tract for $15,880.

Prof. George C. McVittie, head of the university's astronomy department, said a giant reflector, consisting of metal plates embedded in the ground and forming a trough will be built in the ravine.

In this isolated area, chosen because of lack of nearby electrical interference, the telescope will be tuned to pick up cosmic noises, or radio waves, emitted from objects outside the earth's galaxy.

McVittie, a world-famed English scientist, said the reflector will be 600 feet long from north to south, 400 feet wide and 65 feet deep. Radio waves will be concentrated on a line of receiving elements over the trough.

Neither foggy weather, clouds nor daylight will interfere with the telescope's operation, McVittie said.

He said it "will provide data which should take all of us a great step forward in the study of the universe."

He's Happy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) says he's "not a candidate" for the presidential nomination in 1960.

He told reporters Wednesday that not only was he not a candidate but, "I do not expect to be one and the only job I'll seek is the one I hold."

LONDON SCANDAL

British Hero Wins Divorce

LONDON (AP)—A British wartime paratrooper hero today won a divorce action against the chic, attractive wife he accused of adultery with a Spanish duke.

The eight-day trial — in which all evidence was kept from public print until today — ended with a decree of judicial separation for Maj. Anthony Greville-Bell. His wealthy wife, Helen Rosemary, 27, was ordered to pay costs of the suit.

Named as co-respondent was the former Spanish ambassador to Britain, the Duke of Primo de Rivera, 54, member of one of Spain's noblest families and a close friend of Generalissimo Franco.

Justice Sir Henry William Barnard said, in summing up, he was convinced that the wife's admission of adultery with the duke was true. The judge said he was satisfied the duke and the major's wife had "suitable opportunities" in 1957 to commit adultery.

Costs of the suit were estimated at 8,000 pounds—$22,400.

The duke had diplomatic immunity at the time the case was started and thus no action for costs was taken against him. He resigned as Spanish ambassador soon after Greville-Bell brought suit.

The judge said "the reason why the duke risked his whole reputation by constantly going around with a young married woman separated from her husband was that he was passionately fond of her."

Santa Knows All House Numbers, So It Appears

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Santa Claus is better than a policeman any time, especially when you're five years old and lost. Police know this for they have children of their own.

She looked around the station then and saw a telephone and asked if she could call Santa Claus whom she had just seen standing in front of a department store.

Sure, said the cop, and he called another policeman in the next room. What would you like for Christmas? he asked, and Manuela told him...a doll, a tea set, doll clothes...

And which chimney should the presents be brought down? The Santa Claus cop asked. Manuela's memory returned. She gave her parents names, the street address and a description of the house.

No Wedding For Pretty Clerk This Saturday

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI) — There will be no wedding for pretty Frances Howard this Saturday.

The 19-year-old dime store clerk, who worked to help support her six young brothers and sisters in Coushatta, received her engagement ring Nov. 1. She and her fiancee set the date for Saturday.

But on the same evening Frances suffered critical head injuries in an auto wreck.

She now lies unconscious inside an oxygen tent at a private hospital here. Doctors say there is no way of knowing how long her coma will last.

ATTACK URGED

Dirty Air Problem Thrashed At Meet

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The first National Conference on Air Pollution prepared today to urge a stepped-up attack against dirty air over the nation's cities.

The 900 delegates will wind up their three-day session with recommendations for a long-range air cleanup. They were expected to call for more action by federal, state and local governments, industry and individual citizens.

The conference was called by the U. S. Public Health Service for the specific purposes of focusing attention on the air pollution problem and developing a 10-year plan to combat it.

POSSIBLE CANCER CAUSE

The delegates were given this picture of the effects from contaminated air: A possible cause of lung cancer, asthma, and other diseases; and a nationwide cost of $7,500,000,000 a year.

Arthur C. Stern, air pollution research engineer for the Public Health Service, said atmospheric sampling in recent years showed that air over the nation's cities is getting dirtier.

Sally Butler, legistative director for the General Federation of Women's Clubs told the conference that American women so far have shown "an amazing tolerance" to dirty air. But she said this tolerance is bound to wear thin as time goes by.

BLAME AUTO EXHAUSTS

Officials from Los Angeles have blamed auto exhausts for a large share of the air pollution. They have been demanding stepped up research by the auto industry to control exhausts.

James M. Chandler of the Ford Motor Co. said the industry is testing a number of devices to "control some undesirable exhaust emissions." But he said there are still many problems to be solved before a commercially acceptable device is achieved.

Another industry spokesman, Charles M. Heinen, Chrysler Corp. engineer, said exhaust control should reduce Los Angeles air control problems, but questioned whether it would have any effect on the problem in other cities.

Ike, Mamie Off Today For Augusta

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

Off to Augusta and the fabulous National Golf Club for the President and Mrs. Eisenhower today. By sundown he will have whipped out at least a few practice balls in the gathering piney woods dusk.

In all deference to the wonderfully hospitable people of Augusta, their climate in the fall is not always ideal. The kindest thing to be said of the November rain which sometimes greets the President is that it is bracing, invigorating—like a leak from an ice shed.

Yet, in all truth, the Augusta National Golf Club is Eisenhower's favorite resort. There's only one place in America where he visits more often, and that is his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., where the weather this time of year makes Augusta seem like a tropic isle.

But possibly as important is the combination of seclusion and reliable companionship. An outsider simply cannot get close enough to the Augusta club to spot the President with a high-powered telescope, not if the outsider wishes to preserve an intact skin.

Eisenhower can play with complete freedom from spectators; no ladies propelling their noisy kids up to the tee for a clawing handshake, as sometimes happened at the Newport Country Club; no nosey reporters to blab about his bogeys.

Among the members of the exclusive club are some of his best friends He can juggle the makeup of his daily foursomes much more frequently than on most other courses, with the possible exception of Burning Tree in suburban Bethesda, Md.

What the President treasures about the club, however, is that he can participate in locker room bull sessions, a club room bridge game and enjoy a colorful release of verbal anger on the course when he shanks a shot into the rough without the slightest worry that his companions will feed an account of these hair-down moments to the public.

Widow Of Sugar Bowl Founder Follows In Death

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The 73-year-old widow of Lawrence Di Benedetto, veteran New Orleans sports figure and chairman of the Sugar Bowl track and field committee, died here Wednesday, two weeks after the death of her husband.

Funeral services for Mrs. Agnes T. Di Benedetto are scheduled to be held tomorrow.

Di Benedetto, who came to New Orleans from Palermo, Italy at the age of 13, was for more than 50 years secretary of the Southern AAU, president of the NAAU, and Sugar Bowl official. He died Nov.

'The Silver Cord' Gets Good Notice

By KAY CAUSEY

"The Silver Cord," Silday Howard's melodrama of "smother love" is on the boards at Northeast Louisiana State College in an exceedingly good production, under the direction of George Brian. This production, the first of the season by the college's speech department, is also the first of the efforts of this group which this reviewer could wholeheartedly acclaim as enjoyable evening in the theatre. It is well acted, well directed, well understood. It will be given its second and last performance tonight, in Brown Auditorium, with curtain at 8:00 p.m. A delightful new policy has abolished the admission charge.

The play moves about the crises precipitated by a marriage and ar engagement of the two sons of a possessive and possessing mother. An occasional feeling that the author pounded home his point almost too vigorously was met with an echo in the mind of times past, and the realization that these lines were all too accurate.

The oft - noted lack of timing and slowness of cues in plays given by the college group has been corrected in this production to achieve a smoothly flowing show —moving, interesting, entertaining. The speech of this particular cast is a large cut above that heard in the past, in clarity and cleanness of diction. And — delightful extra dividend — they could all be heard with ease.

The cast of five was a fortunate choice. Both physically and character - wise, each belonged to his part.

Jerry Kenny, who has been seen often in the past several years, both on the college and Little Theatre stages, showed another step forward in the growing maturity and depth with which she has handled recent roles. Her devastating charm as Mrs. Phelps was a weapon she used knowingly. Her weakest moments were certainly in the beginning of Scene 4, when her motivation, as she wanders around the stage arranging flowers, is unclear, and only later do we see any reason for the action. Possibly one of her best moments is in the last few lines before the final curtain, a scene of macabre tenderness with her engulfed son.

William Norris as David Phelps was often excellent, and only occasionally uncomfortable. Physically it would have been hard to find one more right. In characterization, he provided a relaxed credibility which was at its best in the wonderful underplaying of the first of Scene 3. Toward the end of this scene, he was less good, the whole picture becoming confused. Possibly some confusion and consternation over a bit of cigarette business was responsible for this. Unfortunately, his final line — "I'm sorry, Mother, I guess I've got to go." — came out sounding a little laughable. At his best, Mr. Norris is very good.

Norman Jones, as Robert Phelps, can be cited for the same physical fitness for the part. His character — weaker, more dependant than his brother's — was well established, not only through well-read lines, but through a mobile face and body. As was true with others, the weakest spots were in scenes of focused emotional intensity, and his moment of exposure came in Scene 2 as he asks Hester, "Do you want to be free?"

As Christina, David's wife, Linda Garrett's clearly enunciated words were an easy joy to absorb, and they aided the lucidity of a characterization which was at its best when she was strong, charming, capable, self - assured. With tears she was less convincing, and in a little love-scene with David, a trifle stilted.

Mickey Burford, as Hester, brought an honesty to her playing which made a scene touching even when the emotionalism was not pitched high enough to make it completely convincing. This was true particularly during her scene of hysteria in Scene 1.

All of the cast looked very well on stage. Their clothes were attractive, and so were they. Not as much could be said of the two sets, especially the bedroom set, which showed the handicap of being cheaply done. But to this viewer, this is never as important as the quality of the acting. And they achieved a very creditable level.

Such minor first night slips as the mumble - jumble with the cigarette should be avoided tonight to provide an even better - polished show.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roy Jackson, 55, gets more days in jail than he does pennies in his thefts.

He was sentenced to 10 days in the workhouse Wednesday for theft of a 10-cent candy bar.

Last March he drew a 30-day sentence for stealing 20 cents from a news vendor's change box.

FBI Compiles Figures Bank Robbing On Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a boom on in bank robbing.

In the July-October period there were 214 violations of the federal bank robbery law — 41 more than in the same four months last year. The violations included 132 robberies, 58 burglaries and 24 larcenies.

Convictions have increased, too. In the same four months there were 135 convictions under the bank robbery law compared with 64 in that period last year.

In the year ended June 30, there were 631 bank thefts. This was an increase of 116 over the preceding year and wiped out the old record of 568 set in 1955.

In a bulletin to law enforcement officers in September, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover called the surge in bank robbery violations "one of the most startling developments in the crime problem today."

Hoover noted that women no longer leave bank robbing exclusively to the men and said financial institutions provide an almost irresistible attraction for both professional and amateur criminals. "Of particular concern," he told the nation's law enforcement officers, "is the trend of persons venturing into bank robbery as a 'one-shot' solution to personal financial troubles."

The FBI chief said only by a campaign of continuous and coordinated effort "to reduce the chances of success in this criminal undertaking can we halt the spiraling trend in this serious crime of bank robbery."

Rocket Plane Ride Described By Reporter

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

An invisible force presses you back into your seat and you feel your weight has suddenly doubled or tripled.

You are riding a rocket plane that will power you and perhaps 35 other passengers more than 5,000 miles to Moscow in less than two hours.

This picture of flight along the fringes of space was reported by Dr. Robert Cornog of Space Technology Laboratories to the meeting of the American Rocket Society.

For five full minutes the battle between rocket and gravity will push you back with an acceleration faster than you've ever felt before.

At the end of five minutes, you'll be hurtling along at about 8,000 miles an hour some 30 miles over the world. The rocket plane has already covered 500 to 1,000 miles.

Suddenly the noise is gone, the acceleration slackens. The rocket plane booster breaks away and returns to its base—and now you and your fellow passengers are gliding toward your destination.

Cornog said that such a plane could be commercially in operation in 10 years or so. The passenger fare would be half as much as comparable trips by jet—and would be faster too, he said.

In fact, jet passenger planes will be stuck at speeds less than the speed of sound for at least the next 10 years, Cornog said.

The military will probably have passenger and freight type rocket gliders, as well as bombers long before they are commercially practical, he added.

A girl clerk at the paper said the advertiser was a "handsome man who looked like a movie actor." She said he picked up five replies.

"I would have replied myself but I don't have the necessary qualifications," she added.

California Prison Tries Unique Plan

SAN JOSE, CALIF. (AP)—Up to 36 prisoners walk out of Santa Clara County jail every day, only to return each night.

Yet they break no laws. If they did, they'd lose a place in the county's Work Furlough Plan, and with it the means to keep their families from financial hardship.

Under the plan, selected prisoners jailed for misdemeanors—traffic or drinking violations and the like—are allowed to hold regular outside jobs while serving their sentences.

That's the only privilege. They aren't permitted any social contacts, not even telephone calls to their families.

They merely leave jail to work, then return to be locked up with the other prisoners.

Their paychecks are given to jail authorities, who deduct $3.50 a day board and room charges for each working day, plus any job expenses, such as union dues and transportation costs, and send an allotment to the prisoner's family.

What's left is given the prisoner at the end of his term, so that when he leaves jail he is no more a drain on society than while he was in custody — quite a contrast to the situation facing the usual minor offender, most often a man with limited financial resources.

He probably loses his job on entering prison and his family is forced to seek what public welfare aid is available, if any. In short, the jail term seems the least of his punishments.

"The trouble with jail," he says, "is that usually, men who couldn't make decisions in the outside world are put into a place where they don't need to make any decisions. No wonder so many return."

Hawley declares the Work Furlough Plan "is one of the major methods used which gives hope of breaking that ever-recurring cycle of in jail, then out, then in . . .

Idea for the program was taken from Wisconsin's Huber Plan, instituted in 1913. Similiar programs are used in other states and in parts of Mexico.

One American in 30 travels aboard these days. The other 29 are seeing America first on their vacations.

METHODIST CONFER

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— A cloud of divots will engulf movieland next week when a pack of stars storm the golf course for the title of "world entertainment golf champion."

Duffers and one-handicappers will belt it out at Los Coyotes Country Club with comedians, leading men, character actors and cowpokes vying for honors.

But because they're a part of show biz only a few private clubs allow them membership. The great bulk of movie and TV stars belong to one of three clubs—Bel Air, Lakeside and Hillcrest. Some belong to all three.

Los Angeles Country Club has a strict ban on the greasepaint set. Anyone faintly connected with the movies hasn't a chance.

BING CAN'T JOIN

Bing Crosby once said, "It'd be all right if a distant cousin of mine applied. But I live a short par four from the LA club and I can't join."

Crosby and Bob Hope, tinsel town's most famous golfers, are foregoing the tournament because of work. But most of the other hackers are having a go at it.

Favored is Bob Sterling (of TV's "Topper" series) who shoots to a "1" handicap. Also in contention are crooner Don Cherry (a scartch player), Gordon MacRae (5) and Dean Martin (7).

A pair of dancers, Ray Bolger (10) and Fred Astaire (7) will be flailing away against such cowboy stars as Jim Garner — a 9-handicapper who claims he can't afford to join a private club —Richard (the Californians) Coogan (9), Ty (Cheyenne) Hardin (12), Guy Madison (9), Gene Autry (12).

Two former screen "Tarzans," Johnny Weissmuller (8) and Lex Barker (7) will be bunching their muscles in a private duel for tourney honors.

But little George Gobel, sporting a 10 handicap, Phil Harris (9) and Mickey Rooney (9) will be on hand to provide laughs along with some better-than-average golf.

Two of golfdom's zaniest adherents will be missing — Jerry Lewis (who is ill) and Victor Mature (who limits himself to two-men tournaments). Jerry and Vic play one another frequently in rigged tourneys.

NO PLACE TO LOAF

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— Ralph M. Pons, president of the Louisiana Civil Service League says "nothing is further from the truth" than charges that Civil Service protects lazy and incompetent workers. "It's important to know that critics were not talking about administration or operation of Civil Service in Louisiana or New Orleans," Pons said Wednesday. Such persons are fired in Louisiana, he said.

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI) — At least 16 persons were feared killed and 37 injured Wednesday when a fast mail train rammed into a standing train at Laksham, 100 miles north of here.

ON "BOMBING RUN"

B-47 Crew Makes Excellent Record

ABOARD A B-47 OVER OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — I'm returning from a "bombing mission" that could well have wiped out Oklahoma City and Amarillo, Tex.

Our crew aboard this B-47 is one of the best at the Strategic Air Command's Lincoln Air Force Base on the Nebraska plains — and it has just proved it.

"This is probably the best job we've done," the Aircraft Commander tells me over the interphone. The crew has "dropped" 230 "bombs" from this six-jet plane and only two have missed their targets.

Actually, our "bombing mission" consisted of nothing more than radar signals backed up by the same strategy that would have been used if our weapons had really been atomic.

Just two misses. And Maj. Jack Crook, suave, 33-year-old AC from Kooskia, Idaho, has a reason for both. "One was in a thunderstorm and the other was off the coast of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"The navigator locked on to a ship instead of a dock and the ship moved," he said. But the navigator, Maj. Vernon L. Biaett, Glendale, Ariz., didn't miss over Oklahoma City or Amarillo.

The crew made an even dozen "bomb runs" over the two cities — and all 12 were "right down the rain barrel," said the co-pilot, 1st Lt. Harry E. Krebbs, Omaha, Neb.

There is no visible means of propulsion — you can't see anything going into the front ends of the fix jet engines and only a misty cloud trails far behind the craft.

The view of the clouds is somewhat different — we were at 40,000 feet and that's well above them.

When the clouds thin out a little, you can see the curvature of the earth. Omaha and Lincoln (50 miles apart) looked as though they were almost next-door neighbors.

After our "bomb runs" over Oklahoma City, we headed for Amarillo. We passed over Amarillo every 20 minutes or so. A ground scorer called back our scores — all smash hits.

Biaett said this trip was the second on which our crew had hit 12 targets.

That's what makes Crook's outfit a "select" crew — the top designation. The first step is to become "combat - ready" and then to become a "lead" crew.

Aside from having the responsibility for a two-and-a-half million dollar aircraft and the lives of four men (mine included), they realize that someday they may be headed for Russia on a retaliatory mission with a nuclear or thermonuclear weapon nestled in the bomb chamber.

Federal Court Begins Study Of Va. Laws

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A special Federal Court has begun its study to determine whether Virginia's school closure law is constitutional.

The three-judge court heard four hours of testimony Wednesday, then adjourned without a ruling. It asked for additional briefs by Dec. 5.

A new attack on the state's massive resistance to integration legislation—this one brought as a test case by the state itself—will begin Monday before the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals. No decision is expected before early December.

Two school officials and a veteran teacher told the federal court Wednesday that unless six Norfolk white schools closed under the closure law are reopened soon, the city's public school system will suffer disastrous effects.

Virginia Atty. Gen. Albertis S. Harrison, who with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., the Norfolk School Board and its superintendent, is a defendant in the suit, said closing of the schools is a valid exercise of the police power of the state and asked for dismissal of the case.

Virginia is not trying to destroy public education, he said, but is trying to prevent trouble by removing integrated schools from the public school system so the governor can investigate to determine whether they can be returned to the system.

J. F. Brewbaker, school superintendent, said "it is very tragic" for the locked out students. He said they will have trouble gaining entrance to college and their future job opportunities will be adversely affected.

E. L. Lamberth, assistant superintendent, said nearly 3,000 of the 10,000 pupils shut out of the six schools are without any kind of instruction. The remainder have transferred to other schools or are enrolled in private tutoring groups, he said.

Huge Merchant Ship Is Ready

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL

NEW YORK —(UP) —The biggest merchant ship ever built in the Western Hemisphere will be a homeless waif in most parts of the world.

The 70,700-deadweight-ton Princess Sophie, a giant oil tanker rivalling great ocean liners in size, will find few deep water ports capable of handling her when fully loaded.

This behemoth of the seas, scheduled to be launched Nov. 15 at Bethlehem Steel's Quincy (Mass.) shipyard, can carry in one trip the equivalent of one day's crude oil production in Oklahoma.

Her carrying capacity also is equal to approximately 27 million gallons of gasoline, or enough to drive an automobile to the moon and back 1,100 times.

When fully loaded, the 20-million-dollar vessel will weigh about 100,000 long tons. This will make her heavier than any passenger ship in existence, including Britain's Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth. The Princess Sophie also will outweigh the supper-carrier U.S.S. Forrestal.

The tanker will be christened by Queen Frederika of Greece, after whose oldest daughter the vessel is named. The ship will fly the Greek flag.

A spokesman for the Stavros S. Niarchos fleet, owners of the Princess Sophie, said the tanker will operate between the deep-water ports of the Persian Gulf and California.

The 12,000-mile run from the Persian Gulf, through the Indian Ocean and across the Pacific to California, is said to be the only route that can accommodate a fully loaded ship this size.

In order to enter major East Coast refining centers the Princess Sophie would have to pump part of her cargo into barges and lighters before entering. This includes such important refinery areas as New York and Philadelphia.

Since the end of World War II, the oil industry has been going in for bigger and bigger tankers in an effort to combat rising operating cost.

During and immediately after World War II, the tanker fleets of most nations consisted almost solely of 17,000-deadweight-ton T-2 tankers. They had a capacity of about 122,000 barrels of crude oil, compared with more than 625,000 barrels for the Princess Sophie.

In the last decade, supertankers of more than 30,000 and 40,000-deadweight tons have become commtnplace. There presently are two foreign-built tankers of 85,000-deadweight tons in service and one of more than 100,000 tons now building in Japan.

Although many of these giants are limited as to the ports they can use, the oil industry has been forced by economics to replace its smaller tankers with the supers.

Frank R. Markley, vice president in charge of transportation for Sun Oil Co., said the bigger vessels carry more cargo per trip without proportionately increasing costs, such as crew wages, food or port charges. The result is that per barrel costs are reduced.

An official of Transoceanic Marine, Inc., agents for the Niarchos fleet, said the Princess Sophie will deliver Middle East crude oil at the West Coast for less than two cents a gallon. This is half the cost of 10 years ago despite the sharp increase in operating expenses.

The supertankers not only are big, but they also are plush. The Princess Sophie, for example, will have individual staterooms for each of its 60-man crew. The living and recreational quarters will be completely air - conditioned.

Construction of this mighty tanker, according to a Bethlehem Steel spokesman, made work for factories, mines and transportation facilities in some 40 states.

In addition, the vessel will spend another $500,000 a year on the West Coast for supplies and services.

Taxi Telephone Boon To Cabbie

That's what Jim LaRowe did. He installed a radio-telephone in his taxi last summer. Since then, the 54-year-old part-time cabbie says, business has been booming.

LaRowe got the idea because many of his passengers asked to stop at phone booths to make calls, while doctors, attorneys and other professional men often fidgeted in the back seat wishing they weren't out of touch with their offices.

Installation of the telephone cost LaRowe $50. He pays $32 a month for 22 calls and 10 cents a minute for anything over that. The added expense has been more than made up for by increased business — particulary from regular customers who now phone LaRowe directly to request his services.
